TAKE STAND AGAINST PASHA'S CONTENTION ON CAPITULATIONS

Turkey Bases Stand on Action Taken in October, 1914—Ambassador Child Says if Legal Disputes Arise His Government Will be Compelled to Stand with the Allies

(By The Associated Press)
LAUSANNE, Dec. 2.—America and Japan both lined up with Great Britain, France and Italy today when they took their stand against Ismet Pasha's contention that Turkey had wiped out all the capitulations or extra territorial rights of foreigners, by declaring them null in October 1914.

R. W. Child, spokesman for the United States, said that if any legal dispute arises, his government will be obliged to take the same position as the allied powers. He expressed belief that the common interests of all concerned in the Turkish situation will make it possible to find satisfactory guarantees to replace the capitulations which are so distasteful to Turkey.

Baron Hayashi, for Japan, said he had great sympathy with Turkey's dislike for the capitulations, because his government once labored under the same system.

PROGRESSIVES IN CLOSING SESSION ATTACK OFFICIALS

Daugherty and Mellon Flayed by Speakers at Banquet

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Plans for promotion of progressive sentiment and policies were made today at concluding meetings of the two days convocation of Progressives called by Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, and Representative Huddleston, Democrat, Alabama, under the auspices of the People's Legislative Service. Resolutions declaring for continuation of the new progressive movement, which is to be actively translated into legislation through the bi-partisan progressive bloc of congress formed yesterday were adopted two sessions today of the public conference and addresses were made by a dozen leaders in liberal movements.

Presentation of a detailed legislative and economic program was not attempted by speakers at today's "open forum" and at the closing dinner tonight proposed a multitude of reforms and flayed past and present government officials and policies. A feature of the dinner attended by about 800 persons was another attack upon Attorney General Daugherty by Samuel Untermyer, New York attorney.

Senator La Follette presided today and speeches were delivered by President Cappers of the American Federation of Labor, Governor Blaine of Wisconsin, Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa; Senator-Elect Wheeler, Democrat, Montana; and Frazier, Republican, North Dakota, and Representative Frost, Republican, Wisconsin.

Resolutions adopted declared the movement was non-partisan and designed primarily to promote progressive legislation. Other resolutions called for extension of the direct primary, including abolishment of the electoral college and direct popular election of president and vice president.

Another resolution called upon President Harding to release immediately all free speech prisoners.

The conference declared it was impossible in a single day to formulate a complete legislative and economic program.

Senator La Follette announced that a conference of progressive governors would be held next January.

Play Daugherty and Mellon. Attorney General Daugherty and Secretary Mellon of the treasury department drew the especial fire of speakers.

Mr. Untermyer presented an "indictment" against the attorney general, characterizing him as a "cheap politician" and charging him with numerous derelictions. Mr. Untermyer urged an investigation of the department of justice and the alien property custodian's office, and declared

FRENCH TIGER IS WELL RECEIVED BY ST. LOUIS AUDIENCE

Again Urges America's Re-Entry Into European Affairs

(By The Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 2.—Re-entry of America into European affairs, either as a member of the league of nations, or on some other basis, was urged today by Georges Clemenceau, war premier of France in the fourth of his series of addresses in this country delivered at the Odeon before a capacity audience that applauded him roundly at frequent intervals. The tiger, summarizing what he thought he had accomplished on his tour, declared he believed had convinced the country that France was not militaristic nor imperialistic and that she had every intention of paying her debt to the United States.

Just to make sure, he repeated arguments briefly on these points before he launched into the subject of American participation in old world affairs the point, he said, that he has been most frequently advised he will not be able to get across.

In his discussion of militarism, he reiterated that America showed certain signs of militarism herself and launched into a criticism of her naval policy.

"I do not intend to interfere in your policy," he said, "although you interfered in mine (referring to the militarism charges) and I think I have the right to say that some times you were very much inclined toward the development of your military establishments."

"You have the best frontiers in the world. They cannot be better. But the other day you said you could not leave one unprotected until you had 500,000 tons of warships. I will give you a million tons if you want it. It is a way of spending and wasting your money which is, of course, at your disposal. I do not believe much in capital warships now, because there are submarines and airplanes which make warships no longer capital."

"The commission on capitulations decided to name three sub-commissions to consider the various aspects of the capitulations problem and report to the conference. The first will consider a scheme of jurisdictional guarantees for foreigners as a substitute for the present system of foreign courts; the second will discuss economic questions especially taxation of foreign property in Turkey and the third will consider the status of persons living in Turkey who are under the protection of foreign countries."

The gulf between the Turks and the other powers on the capitulations problem is so wide that it will be difficult to bridge, Ismet Pasha and all his associates driven on by emphatic demands from Ankara are insistent that the system has been entirely eliminated, while the present efforts of the European diplomats are directed toward providing some substitute so the capitulations may be gradually abandoned after a period of transition in which the Turks can bring their courts and legal practice to conform to the systems existing in the Western countries.

Annual International Live Stock Exposition

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—The twenty-third annual International live-stock exposition opened at the Union Stock Yards today with 10,000 head of blooded cattle, horses, sheep and hogs competing for honors. Stock raisers from nearly every state and many Canadian provinces were included among the exhibitors and several Europeans had stock scheduled.

Tonight, designated as Chicago night, was given over to the horse show, equine aristocrats from Chicago and vicinity being on exhibit.

Judging has been started to determine the blue ribbon winners in the 900 classes entered which will participate in the $100,000 in premiums.

Prominent among arrivals were ministers of agriculture from various Canadian provinces as well as stockmen from Mexico, South America and Europe. Georgia has entered her hogs against the best Minnesota can produce, shepherds from the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts are pitting their sheep against each other and Maryland's draft horses are competing against entries from Nebraska. Eighty-two per cent of last year's cattle and sheep prize winners are on exhibit this year. Among the blooded stock are 42 car loads of prize winning cattle at the American Royal Exposition which closed at Kansas City last week. One hundred and fifteen carloads of prize beef are listed and 55 loads of hogs are listed.

Lula Mayflower, last year's grand champion heifer again is competing for the honor. The California heifer was the first to win the grand championship which heretofore had fallen to a pampered steer.

The hay and grain show held in connection with the exposition includes entries by the Duke of Sutherland, the province of Alberta, Canada, and other Canadian princes as well as most of the grain producing states of the union.

J. W. Lucas of Cayley, Alberta, who won last year's oats championship and W. Kraft of Bozeman, Mont., last year's wheat sweepstakes winner are back seeking further honors and G. J. Workman of Maxwell, Ill., who annexed the 1921 championship in corn also is entered.

HENRY FORD SAYS COUZENS IS BEST MAN FOR PLACE

Is Just Type of Man That is Needed by the Country at This Time

(By The Associated Press)
DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 2.—Mayor James Couzens of Detroit, who next week will take the seat in the senate relinquished by Truman H. Newberry is "the best man who could have been picked for the job in the opinion of Henry Ford, former employer of Mr. Couzens. The seat to be taken by Mayor is the one sought four years ago by Mr. Ford, who was defeated by Mr. Newberry. "Couzens is just the type of man needed in the senate not only by Michigan but by the whole country," the automobile manufacturer said tonight. He is a man of immense wealth and yet he still has the welfare of the public at heart. He is independent and fearless and likes nothing better than a fight for the common people against the special interests which for years have been getting an ever tightening grip on our government, both state and national.

"There are two things upon which Mr. Couzens can be relied. He never will spend a nickel for political advantages nor will he ever let a stupid party allegiance lead him into any situation or commit him to any policy that he believes is not for the good of all the people."

PREDICT NEW CENTRAL COMPETITIVE FIELD

(By The Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 2.—Creation of a new central competitive field as the unit of bargaining between the United Mine Workers and bituminous coal operators was predicted today as the outcome of negotiations which opened in Chicago Wednesday between representatives of both sides by Cleveland Coal Operators who figured in the settlement of the recent coal strike.

Sentiment among coal operators, according to the Cleveland operators is reported to be favoring yielding to the miners insistence on this method of negotiating wage agreements thru a four state conference. Some Cleveland operators said they believed the outcome of the meeting Wednesday will be the creation of a field composed of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and either the unionized fields of Kentucky or West Virginia to take the place of Pennsylvania.

Organization of chambers in other cities, for the coalition of National and Local Radio interests will follow, the announcement said.

The new body is to be discussed at a meeting called in Chicago for next Friday.

Other cities in the ninth districts being considered as homes for radio commerce chambers were given as Milwaukee, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and Davenport.

DEPUTY SHERIFFS ARE KIDNAPED BY CUNARD STEAMSHIP

Police Tug Chases Liner to Sandy Hook But Loses Race

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Outspeeding the police tug Manhattan, which had been ordered to overtake her the Cunard Liner Assyria tonight flashed past Sandy Hook and headed for Scotland carrying with her 11,505 cases of whisky deported by federal prohibition agents, and two deputy sheriffs alleged to have been "kidnaped" while executing an order to seize part of the cargo. The Manhattan which had been sent out with orders to rescue the deputy sheriffs "by force if necessary" was too slow for the liner her captain reported when he returned to the battery. He got too late a start, he said, and after trailing the Assyria almost to Sandy Hook, gave up the race as lost.

Besides the deputies who were aboard attempting to seize 4,000 cases of the whisky on a writ of replevin, the ship carried two prohibition agents, assigned to guard the liquid cargo.

The whisky had remained in customs storage since 1921 when it was shipped by Heilborn and company, distillers of Glasgow, Scotland, to an agent in this country. It was not seized by the prohibition officials until recently. It was consigned by the agent to the Alps Drug company and another firm, both of which had permits to import and distribute wine.

The chase of the Assyria lasted more than an hour. When the Manhattan empty handed returned to her berth Sheriff Nagle announced he would proceed with the case on the basis that the Assyria's captain had deliberately shanghaied the deputies.

SAYS UNION LEADERS TRYING TO DESTROY R. R.

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the railroad labor board, in a speech before the Illinois Bar association tonight, charged that many railway union leaders are waging warfare against the roads with the purpose of destroying the industry and forwarding a political campaign for government ownership. "A large portion of the union magazines which pass over my desk contain bitter attacks on the railroads, their managements and their policies," he said. "These criticisms are not confined to matters of direct controversy between the railways and the employees, but they cover every ground of attack that might be made by those outside of railroad employment."

"Nothing is left unsaid that seems to be calculated to stir up hatred among the employees and distrust and hostility among the people."

"Railroad labor organizations are largely committed to the Plumb plan of railroad operation which is government ownership, with private operation in which the employees shall participate managerially and share the profits financially. If there should be losses instead of profits, the owners, that is, the people, would dig up taxes to pay the deficit."

FOUR BANK ROBBERS PAROLED SATURDAY

(By The Associated Press)
JOLIET, Ill., Dec. 2.—Four Washington park bank robbers received March 6, 1916, on an indeterminate sentence of from one year to life, were paroled here tonight. They are on their way to New York.

The quartet, Harry Fein, Charles (Big Polly) Kramer, Harry Kramer and Alex Brody, were convicted in March of 1916 for one of the most daring bank robberies ever committed in the middle west. In broad light the bank was held up and $15,000 taken from the cashier's cage. The robbers escaped in an automobile and were captured a few hours later. They have consistently pleaded innocence of the crime.

SUCCESS CROWNS THE FILIBUSTER AGAINST ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

Democratic Senators Force Republicans to Abandon the Measure—Had Prevented Transaction of Any Business for Four Days—Filibuster Threatens Nominations

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Success crowned the filibuster of senate Democrats against the Dyer anti-lynching bill today when Republican senators in party caucus voted to abandon the measure.

The Republican majority acted after the Democrats by what is generally conceded to have been one of the most efficiently conducted filibusters in the history of the senate had prevented the transaction of any business on the fourth consecutive legislative day. The obstructionist tactics of the Democrats moreover were threatening more than a thousand presidential nominations which, if unconfirmed by Monday noon when the special session ends, must be again submitted.

The Republican caucus was preceded by a conference attended by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader; Senator Curtis of Kansas, the Republican whip, and Senator Shortridge of California, in charge of the Dyer bill.

Senator Shortridge, who had been unmovable thruout the filibuster was understood to have agreed to allow the fate of the bill to be decided by a majority caucus.

The question was debated for two hours, it is understood, a small majority holding out for continued fight. The final decision was to direct Senator Lodge to inform the Democratic leader that the bill would be pushed no further either at the special session or at the regular session convening Monday. This means the death of the legislation which the Democrats have attacked as unconstitutional.

The decision, Republican leaders, will permit confirmation of a large number of the pending nominations at the session convening at 10 o'clock Monday two hours in advance of the meeting of congress in regular session. Among the nominations is that of Pierce Butler of Minnesota to be an associate supreme court justice.

Filibuster Noted: One. Majority and minority leaders alike were agreed tonight that the filibuster will take a place as one of the most notable in senate history.

It has differed from previous filibusters in that in lieu of speeches Democrats having utilized usual routine action of approving the journal. No business can be transacted until the journal or minutes of the previous session have been approved and the Democrats took advantage of this rule by refusing approval, presenting amendments, demanding quorum calls and requesting the ayes and noes on every question.

Leaders on both sides were agreed tonight that the filibuster had had the additional effect of directing attention to senate rules under which a minority by well directed moves may block any legislation and which Senator Cummins, I was, the president pro tempore yesterday described as belonging to "another civilization."

Also generally agreeing that some changes should be made in the way of limiting debate leaders said any such action by the present senate was unlikely because of lack of time that changes probably would not be brought about by the next senate because of the large progressive group which at a rule has opposed limitation of debate.

TWO ARE KILLED IN CALIFORNIA WRECK

(By The Associated Press)
FRESNO, Cal., Dec. 2.—Two persons were killed and several were seriously injured when an east bound Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe passenger train plunged into an open switch a few miles west of Bakersfield tonight.

A statement issued from the office of the division superintendent here said the wreck was caused by deliberate tampering with the switch. The statement said an investigation showed the switch target had shown a clear track but that the switch had been broken open and lined for a spur track.

The dead are Californians.

Kansas City, Dec. 2.—Two persons were injured, none dangerously when Chicago and Alton train number 28 struck a hay baler last night near Odessa, Mo. The locomotive, tender and two coaches left the track.

JAMES R. MANN'S FUNERAL HELD IN HOUSE YESTERDAY

Simple in Nature According to Wishes of Deceased

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Funeral services, simple as he liked, were held in the hall of the house today for James R. Mann, who for upwards of 25 years had exerted there his great influence as a leader of the people.

The president, the vice president, the cabinet, the supreme court, the diplomatic corps, men representing the heads of army and navy, the senate and house, and a host of friends high and humble, joined in paying a tribute such as is paid to few men nowadays in public life.

Tonight the body of the house veteran and warrior of many a legislative battle was on its way to Chicago for burial under escort of congressional delegation composed of his colleagues from Illinois and friends closest to him in his work.

The only women at the ceremony aside from those in the galleries, were the widow and his faithful secretary, Mrs. Florence Donnelly, who had stood with him thru the better part of his fighting days in the house.

There was no eulogy by his colleagues—merely a sermon, in which his services were briefly recounted, by the Rev. James E. Freeman, rector of the Church of the Epiphany.

President Harding sat directly across the aisle from Former President Taft, now chief justice of the United States, both close friends of the Republican leader. Sitting far back in the chamber Uncle Joe Cannon, long an intimate friend of Mr. Mann, let the tears run down his cheeks unchecked.

After the benediction colleagues marched by the open coffin in silent farewell.

Eight bodies are missing.

WILL HAVE NO EFFECT ON TRIAL

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 2.—Chief Justice Harrison of the state supreme court said tonight that the action of Judge Bolen at Ada in adjourning the October term of the photo county district court would have no effect on the case. Governor J. B. A. Robertson said that two judges sit separately in Pottawatomie county.

A THOUGHT
Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.—Ephesians 6:10.

This is the gospel of Labor—
Ring it, ye bells of the kirk!
The Lord of love came down from above
To live with the men who work.
This is the rose he planted
Here in the thorn-cursed soil;
Heaven is blest with perfect rest,

But the blessings of earth is toll.
—Henry Van Dyke.
“Peasant proprietor” is the term that Bross Lloyd uses with reference to himself and his ownership of a handsome north side home in Chicago. I don’t make much difference about the phrase so long as Mr. Lloyd is able to remain in peaceful possession, surrounded by members of his family and all that wealth can give.
Down state one of the best arguments in favor of the proposed new constitution is the fact that the Chicago city council recently by a vote of 59 to 6 declared its opposition. That action is quite significant.

THE ELECTRIC STOKER
At last an electric stoker has been put on the market which will put coal in the furnace and empty the ashes. The device is the invention of a Seattle engineer, and if it works, the Nobel prize for the greatest service to humanity should be the inventor’s by popular acclaim.
To say nothing of the importance of such an invention in the stoking of great industrial furnaces, think what it will mean in the home. Of all the dirty jobs that everybody has hated since stoves and furnaces were invented, putting in the coal and removing the ashes takes the lead. Determining who should do it and when and how it should be done has participated as many family rows as money. If the little blue wizard can take this job over along with milking the cow and running the washing machine, one more shadow has been removed from the path to serenity within the family circle.

WHEN YOU BUY.
There is one retail store for every forty families in America. William G. Shepherd tells this to a convention of advertising men. One groceryman in 29 falls each year.
In the long run, according to John Wanamaker, only one man in twenty-five who go into any kind of merchandising makes a success of it.
A fine thing to be in for yourself—your own boss. But do a lot thinking before you try it.
If you later on start store store line of goods should you select, to make you the most money? This is your first thought, and an important one.
But the number of dollars taken in by a merchant does not always determine how much profit he can make.
On the average, says Shepherd, to run a store take 17 cents out of each dollar received by the grocer. Similar figures are: 19 cents on $1 for butchers, 25 cents for hardware dealers, 24 cents for clothing sellers and 26 cents for shoe dealers.
The figures vary, according to the amount of sales. As a business grows, overhead expense is carried on the shoulders of an increasing number of dollars. This means less overhead for each dollar to carry — provided overhead doesn’t increase at a faster rate than gross sales, which it often does.
Shepherd calls America “a nation of counter jumpers.” One worker in each ten is engaged in selling something. And two-thirds of these 3,000,000 sales clerks are engaged in selling food and clothing.
For each three farmers, there’s one person behind a counter. For each four factory employees there’s a store clerk or a store manager or a store owner, selling the things produced.
The trend seems to be toward a point where everyone will be distributing commodities, nobody producing.
That point, of course, never will be reached. But the tendency toward it is strong enough to emphasize that our greatest problem of economics is one of distribution rather than production.

BERTON BRALEY’S DAILY POEM
Streets
By Berton Braley
YOU like straight streets that are metaled and paved
And lead to a definite place,
Trim, regular streets that are well behaved
And easy to mope and trace.
They lead from home to your daily job,
And back to your home again.
Broad streets worn smooth by a humdrum mob
Of patiently plodding men.
BUT I like streets that are queer and quaint,
That lead—well, I know not where;
That dwindle at length to a trail that’s faint,
Where the wandering pilgrims fare.
You like the streets where you can’t get lost,
I’m fond of them where I can.
The wavering aimless roads, unbossed
By the “practical paving man.”
YOU like the streets that from end to end
Are old and familiar ways,
I love the by-ways that wind and wend
Till lost in the distant haze;
So keep to your street that is straight and fine,
A carefully measured track,
And I’ll light-headedly follow mine,
All over the world and back!

TODAY’S SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
Why did Jesus send the disciples and the seventy two and two?
Ans.: He sent the seventy to go before Him, to preach, heal, &c., and chose the twelve disciples to be constantly with Him, sending them two and two, (1) to teach them the necessity of concord among the ministers of righteousness; (2) that in the mouths of two witnesses everything might be established, and (3) that they might comfort and support each other in their difficult labour. He commanded them to take nothing for their journey that they might be free from all useless incumbrances, and fulfill His orders with the utmost diligence and despatch.
What other instance have we of seventy being appointed? And for what purpose?
Ans.: When God told Moses to appoint seventy of the elders of Israel to be his assistants, beside Aaron, Nadab, and Obiiah to help in the government of Israel. The Jews sometimes chose six out of each tribe; this was the number of the great and small.

is our duty to entreat him to do so.
A minister of Christ is represented as a day-labourer. He comes into the harvest, not to become lord of it, but to live on the labour of others, but to work, and to labour his day.
Though the work may be very severe, yet to use a familiar expression, there is good wages in the harvest-home; and the day, though hot, is but a short one.
How earnestly should the flock of Christ pray to the good Shepherd to send them pastors after his own heart, who will feed them with knowledge; and who shall be the means of spreading the knowledge of his truth, and the savor of his grace over the face of the whole earth.

Jesse L. Lasky Presents
Rodolph Valentino
—in—
“The Young Rajah”
Here is the greatest Valentino love-drama of them all! With Rodolph the Magnificent first as a virile American college athlete, then as a gorgeous Prince of India braving death for the charming Yankee girl he loves.
A story that sweeps you from New York’s glittering ballrooms into the ageless mystery and passions of the Orient.
Produced on a sumptuous scale, with settings and costumes of dazzling splendor. (Valentino’s costumes designed by Winifred Hudnut.)
More tempestuous love scenes than “The Sheik”; more spectacular than “Blood and Sand.”
The brilliant supporting cast includes Wanda Hawley, Charles Ogle, Maude Wayne, Pat Moore, Bertram Grassby, William Boyd, Fanny Midgeley, and Spottiswoode Aitken.
Don’t Fail to See—
The heart-breaking boat race between Yale and Harvard, with the gay, cheering thousands and Valentino pulling a mighty stroke oar for Harvard.
The burning love scenes between Valentino and Wanda Hawley.
The shimmering beauty of the Reincarnation Ball given by a Newport millionaire.
The kidnapping of Valentino in the midst of his happiness by Hindu assassins.
The wooing of Valentino in the Rajah’s harem by a pretty dancing girl.
The world-famous Indian Durbar, the king of all spectacles.
The most spectacular of all the famous Valentino love-dramas.

CHARLOTTE POWERS FALLS IN OPEN WELL

Five Years Old Daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. James Powers Has Narrow Escape From Death.

Charlotte Powers, four years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
James Powers, 812 Grove street, had a narrow escape from death about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon when she fell a distance of 18 feet into an open well in a vacant lot on South Diamond street.

The girl and her brother were playing in the vacant lot at the end of West College street from which the house had been removed. The well on the premises had been left uncovered and the little girl accidentally fell into the opening. Her brother immediately ran home and told his mother.

His cries had alarmed the neighbors who hastened to the scene.
Maurice Obermeyer was let down into the well by a rope and rescued the child. There was about a foot and a half of water in the well and the girl was apparently uninjured aside from being chilled by the water.

In the meantime the fire department had been called and Chief Hunt and several of his men responded with the lungmotor but its services were not needed. Dry clothing replaced the soaked ones and it is not likely that any serious results will follow. Chief Hunt said it was a miracle the child was not killed or badly injured.

Written by the Mysterious Mr. X, now prominent by reason of his many striking magazine stories, and beautifully portrayed by an All-Star Cast, including many children.

"It takes a heap of livin' in a house to make it home," says Edgar Guest in a recent issue of a national magazine.

The truth of that statement is proved beyond doubt in the special production, "Who Are My Parents?" But it takes something more than that, according to the lesson derived from the photoplay.

How the gap is filled, how happiness, contentment and love is brought to a home barren of all these things is depicted in a dramatic story of human interest, heart appeal and compelling suspense. The early scenes of the picture are laid in a child's home, where a tiny brother and sister have just been sent. Their trials and tribulations, as well as the sunshine and happiness which comes to them, lead up to a series of dramatic scenes which are bound to stir the emotions of every man and woman who sees the picture, according to all advance reports.

How a young married couple, estranged because of vast differences in their likes and dislikes, turn their house, lacking all things that make life worth while, into a home, and how they find happiness and contentment through two little youngsters left to fight their own way through the world provides a compelling story that will grip the interest of the spectator.

Another romance is blended into the photoplay which provides a very unusual twist to the story and which leads to a crashing climax that has made the picture a spectacular success in every city in which it has been shown.

MR. SALBY HAS NO BUILDING PLANS

Mention was made recently of the purchase of a West State street property by George Salby from Messrs. Hopper & Hoffmann. The statement was made that Mr. Salby expects to later erect a building there for use as a pool and billiard room.

He said further that he purchased the property as a matter of investment, with the belief that Jacksonville is going forward and that property values here will advance.

High Percentage Hatches

With the Queen Incubator

Everyone wants big hatches, and the Queen will deliver them. Besides being wonderfully well constructed, in the way of materials and workmanship, the Queen embodies the most scientific principles of artificial incubation.

The Queen is doubly insulated. First there are double walls of California Redwood, forming a dead air space. Second, corrugated strawboard is used between the wooden walls. Proper insulation adds considerable expense to the manufacturing cost, but it is an absolute requirement of a good incubator.

The Queen is the only incubator that carries out the double Redwood wall construction all around, and provides a double wall front, in the way of two separate doors. The outer door is a solid panel of Redwood that is hinged entirely independent of the inner door and is fastened with a sash lock that draws it tight, thus making the loss of heat impossible.

The inner door is also of Redwood construction, containing a panel of glass the full length and height of the egg chamber.

Queen Brooders are Good Step-Mothers

They are designed to raise the chicks in all kinds of weather at any time of the year, with complete protection day and night. The heating system gives an abundance of heat, distributed properly, while plenty of fresh air is provided automatically without draughts.

We sell the Queen because we are here to stay and cannot afford to trifle with your eggs. Come in and see how a Queen operates.

"Big Ten" Football Schedule Announced

WISCONSIN TO PLAY ILLINOIS U. AGAIN ON NOVEMBER 10TH

Schools Patch Up Differences Caused by Ineligibility Charges—Outdoor Track and Field Meet to be Held at Michigan June 1 and 2—Announce Other Conference Meets

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Football relations between Illinois and Wisconsin, bitter rivals in the Western Conference, were shattered and then patched up again at the annual meeting of the "Big Ten" coaches today to draft schedules for the 1923 gridiron campaign.

The break in the relations was circulated before the schedule makers went into session when Coach Zuppke of Illinois announced that the Illini had scheduled a game with Nebraska, 1922 champions of the Missouri Valley conference, to be played at Urbana October 6, and that Wisconsin was to be dropped from the Illinois schedule, presumably because of the charges of professionalism made by both universities in the midst of the football season.

After the football coaches retired for a secret session with John Richards, the Wisconsin football mentor on the outside it was announced that Wisconsin and Illinois would clash in 1923, the game to be played at Urbana Nov. 10. Thomas E. Jones, the Badger athletic director, represented Wisconsin in the schedule meeting.

When the meeting was over, officials of both universities announced that all differences had been patched up to the satisfaction of all concerned and that they regretted the publicity given the situation.

The most surprising break of the schedule making was the severance of football relations between Illinois and Michigan. Neither Coach Zuppke of the Wolverines nor Zuppke of Illinois could agree on a date, but it was explained there was no ill feeling between the two institutions. Zuppke scheduled a game with Iowa to be played at Iowa City on November 3. This will be their first meeting since 1919.

For the first time in years, Chicago will meet Indiana. The game was scheduled for Chicago November 10. Coach Staggs said he could not arrange a proposed contest with Michigan because of the number of hard games already under contract. Ohio State split with Minnesota, chiefly because of the long trip necessary to play in Minneapolis. The Buckeyes will meet Purdue instead of playing in LaFayette.

There will be no East vs. West inter-sectional games in 1923. Iowa had an invitation to play Yale, but decided to confine its opponents to the west. Coach Staggs at Chicago said no overture had come from Princeton for another series of games.

Permission to play eight football games effective with the start of the 1924 season, was the most important action taken by the faculty committee today. The resolution calls for the playing of football games on every Saturday during October and November prior to Thanksgiving day but stipulates that the squads may not be called together for practice until two weeks before the playing of the first game, instead of the three weeks practice period at present.

The resolution will be voted upon by each of the ten faculties in the conference and if approved will become operative after the next meeting of the conference, scheduled for next June. This will not allow the coaches to put the rule into effect for the 1923 campaign.

Football coaches welcome the resolution which they said will give each mentor a better opportunity to develop winning teams. The eight game season it was pointed out will do away with the usual jockeying for attractive dates, which resulted in Illinois and Michigan being unable to arrange a game today and also will enable every eleven in the conference to meet the others in the fold.

The faculty representatives also passed a resolution disapproving of the "Big Ten" colleges competing in the national collegiate track and field meet. The professors asserted that the national meet was a repetition of the conference outdoor championship event and takes prestige away from an established set of games.

Coach Fred Dawson of Nebraska in discussing the game scheduled with Illinois, announced that an arrangement unprecedented in football between major universities would be adopted—each coach will send his opponent a complete diagram of his plays before the game.

"The Illinois-Nebraska game is not planned for a test of the relative strength of the Western and Missouri Valley conference," said Coach Dawson. "My aim and that of Coach Zuppke is to have a good stiff game at the opening of the season, without resort to trick plays."

The annual cross-country run for the conference championship was awarded to Ohio State and will be held at Columbus, Nov. 24, the probable date of the Illinois-Ohio football game.

Burt Shotton Is Slated For Managerial Berth

the managerial toga of the minors.

Outfielder Burt Shotton, assistant to Manager Branch Rickey of the Cardinals, is being groomed to lead a minor league club controlled by the St. Louis owners. It is reported that he is to lead the Syracuse team of the International league.

Shotton has served for fifteen seasons on the diamond, starting his career with Erie, Pa., in 1908. His great speed first attracted the attention of the major leaguers and he was purchased by the St. Louis Browns in 1909. Playing two years in the American league he was released to Omaha drifted over to Wheeling, drafted by the Cleveland Indians in 1911, transferred to Columbus and while with Columbus again was purchased by the St. Louis Browns.

Shotton remained with the Browns until the close of the 1917 season when with Johnny Lavan and Derrill Pratt he filed suit against Owner Ball charging the manager with libel when an interview by Ball charged the three players with "laying down" on Fielder Jones as manager.

Shotton was traded to Washington, but when Branch Rickey became president of the Cardinals in 1919 one of his first moves was to purchase Shotton from Washington.

In the last two seasons Shotton has filled in occasionally as substitute with the Cardinals.

BILLY EVANS' WEEKLY BOXING LETTER

In any sport the athlete with the wallop gets the spotlight. The ball player who can hit home runs, the boxer who can knock his opponent cold, the golfer who can drive 'em a mile gets the hero worship.

Babe Ruth almost overnight became the baseball idol of the country, simply because he could hit the ball farther than any one else playing the game.

No diamond hero ever reached greater heights than Ruth. Incidentally, unless Bambino starts hitting home runs again next season, like empty Dumpty he is due for an awful fall. Fandom is fickle.

In the golfing world Jesse Guilford is known as the "Big Siege Gun," because of the distance he gets to his drives. When Guilford plays he always has a big gallery in his wake. The crowd follows him because of his reputation of hitting 'em hard.

Jack Dempsey is a favorite because he possesses the big wallop. No matter how big or strong they are, Jack's opponents seldom go the distance.

Punch is Lost Art.

All of which gives rise to the question, is the punch becoming a lost art in boxing?

Of the present day champions, Jack Dempsey is about the only one who rocks the boys to sleep. And because of the few heavy-weight contenders the public doesn't get very many chances to see Dempsey in action.

The pugilistic game could get no greater boost than the coming of a champion in any class who proved himself to be a real "knockerout."

There are no Stanley Ketchels or Terry McGovern's roaming the padded pastures these days.

Ketchel Had Color.

I don't believe there was ever a more colorful fighter than Stanley Ketchel. I saw him in a number of his best fights and never failed to get a thrill. Ketchel was a real fighter, yet the possessor of much cleverness.

The boxing game has too few such champions. In these modern days the idea is to wait thru a bout and do as little real fighting as possible. In other words, "bunk" the public.

Recently I saw in action in Detroit a youngster by the name of Bob Sage, who reminded me in many ways of the late Stanley Ketchel. It wouldn't surprise me if within a year or two this fellow Sage would be a prominent figure in pugilistic circles.

Sage is a student at the University of Detroit. By the way, the University of Detroit is some pumpkins from an athletic standpoint. Recently the football eleven representing that institution surprised the football experts by its decisive defeat of Washington and Jefferson.

Likes Boxing as Sport.

Sage is a middleweight built along the lines of Ketchel. He is a fine looking chap, and so far has managed to retain his pulchritude despite a number of hard battles. Like Ketchel, Sage can hit. Like Ketchel Sage really enjoys the fight game.

In football the best players are the fellows who really enjoy the strenuous pastime. In baseball, the fellow who plays for the love of the game is the player who does big things. The same holds good in boxing.

Sage isn't known very widely, his reputation is largely confined to the middle west, but I miss my guess unless he soon becomes a national figure in the boxing game.

I sincerely hope he does because he is the type that uplifts the sport. He is a college student and looks the part. Incidentally, he is a real fighter.

Willard No Longer Is Dempsey Rival Former Champion Makes Sorry Showing in Trial Bout

Jess Willard's Latest Pose

By JACK JUNGMEYER

Los Angeles—Jess Willard, seeking to recover the crown that Dempsey hooked, asked the public to judge, after a few months' training, whether he deserved another chance at his conqueror.

The public has judged—that part to which he has appealed, at least.

The occasion was his arena exhibition, in the Hollywood stadium of the American Legion, a few nights ago, when he boxed a charity bout.

And the verdict was a good-natured thumbs down.

A pitiable giant garlanded with grins and pathetic yearning for the glory of yesterday, plodding the long, long trail to fighting fitness, but failing to show comeback requisites of championship.

So ringsters and sports writers saw and estimated Willard in action against his sparring adversaries, Tom Kennedy and Joe Bonds.

What Ring Experts Say

Said a veteran sporting editor, friend of the big Kansan: "Any promoter who matches Jess with Dempsey ought to be hanged—it would be a crime."

Said another ring critic: "If Jess came in to Jack with his hands down as he did here Dempsey would break every rib in his body before he could get 'em up."

Still another: "It was expected that Jess Willard, clamoring for a return match, would at least go about his business with some show of something, earnestness for example. He did not show one characteristic of the ex-champion, let alone a champion prospect."

Can't Make the Grade

There are whispers that Jess himself has about concluded that he can't make the grade. He has trained seriously for several months and has stripped off some 30 pounds of fat, still hovering in the neighborhood of 250. But he packs considerable over-weight which seems to elude all training rigors—apparently nature's irreducible minimum for a man of his years, 39, frame and poundage.

In the clownish bravado he presented that fulsome tummy to be hammered at by his sparring fellows. They whacked away at it with dull thuds while Jess giggled. He was slow and looked soft. His capers suggested a pretense at sprightliness which you expected him to relax in the privacy of his dressing room.

GEORGETOWN WINS FROM LAFAYETTE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—LaFayette's powerful football eleven was defeated today by Georgetown university, 13 to 7 in a gruelling post-season game. It was the second setback the Easton, Pa., collegians had sustained in three years and was another of the long list of upsets that has marked the 1922 season. Two field goals, the first by Malley from the 25 yard line, and the second by Blavin from the 35 yard line furnished the margin of the hill top victory. The outstanding feature of the game was a 75 yard run for a touchdown by Werts. Intercepting a forward pass near his own goal, the Georgetown center side-stepped, dodged and still-armed his way thru half the LaFayette team.

PRINCETON LOSES DOZEN PLAYERS

Princeton, N. J.—While the Princeton student body is celebrating the victories over Chicago, Harvard and Yale, Coach Bill Roper has already started to think about the 1923 campaign.

The Tigers will lose a dozen members of the varsity football squad. That is quite a blow since most of them are regulars. Of the men who will graduate in June are Captain Dickinson, Thompson, Gray, Baker, Stinson, Alford, Gaines, Griffin, Ewer, Cleaves, Snyder and Troup.

Roper will miss Dickinson, who has played a great game at guard and handled his team in fine style.

Baker has proved one of the best tackles of the year. His recovery of a fumble at Harvard made possible a Tiger touchdown and victory. Cleaves has been the star of the back field.

Gray, at end, has had a wonderful year. He is an All-American possibility. His recovery of a fumble followed by a 45 yard run for a touchdown against Chicago was a life saver for the Tigers in that game.

However, Roper isn't doing any worrying. He has nucleus for another great team in Treat, one of the best tackles of the year; Gorman, Crum, Newby, Beattie, Caldwell, Smith, Snively, Wingate, Dinemore and a host of others. In addition, the freshman material is said to be very promising.

BRICK MULLER WINS GAME FOR WEST BY SENSATIONAL RUN

Blocks Kick Then Scoops up Ball and Dashes 65 Yards for Touchdown—Was the Only Score of the Game—Many Stars Were in Lineups—Centre College Divides its Forces

(By The Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 2.—Brick Muller, the University of California's all American end, blocked a kick, scooped up the ball and ran 65 yards for a touchdown, scoring a 6 to 0 victory for the west over the east in an all-star football game played today for the benefit of local charities.

The two teams were made up of former college stars brought here by a local committee for the game which is an annual event and probably represented the greatest assemblage of gridiron stars ever assembled together. In all 19 men whose names have appeared in various All-American selections played on the two teams, one of which was made up of former members of eastern college teams and the other from players of western institutions.

The western team, captained by "Bo" McMillan, who starred at Centre, included such players as Muller, California; Vick, Michigan; Wallace, Iowa State; Eichenlaub, Notre Dame; Crangle, Illinois; Goetz, Michigan; Huffman, Bolen, Nemecek, Verges and Trott, Ohio State; Held and Minnick, Iowa; Hanney, Indiana, and Armstrong, Centre.

Pitted against them and captained by Bob Peck, former all American center at Pittsburgh, was a team which included:

Ashbaugh, Brown; Moseley, Yale; Fargo, Williams; Griffiths, Penn State; McLaren, Pitt; Hogsett, Dartmouth; Vorys and Jones, Yale; Fuller, Brown; Whitmer, Princeton; Thurman, Virginia; Thurman, Pennsylvania; Lea, Colgate, and Roberts, Centre.

The Centre players after a difference of opinion as to whether the school should be classified as an eastern or western institution were split into two contingents, the eastern team taking Roberts and Murphy and the west McMillan and Armstrong.

BIG LEAGUE PLANS ARE UP IN THE AIR

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Plans of K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, for a meeting of American and National league owners in New York went awry today when Ban Johnson, American president, issued a formal call for the league's annual meeting to be held here December 13.

The National leaguers are scheduled to meet in New York, Dec. 12, and Commissioner Landis, believing the American league owners would meet there the day following, issued a call for a joint session of the magnates Dec. 14.

President Johnson said today he saw no reason for a meeting of the sixteen major league owners and added that he was not pleased with the way the National league had handled several deals involving players who had violated major league rules.

AMERICAN LEAGUE TO MEET DECEMBER 13

Chicago, Dec. 2.—President Johnson of the American league announced tonight that the annual meeting of the baseball magnates of his circuit would be held in Chicago on Wednesday, Dec. 13.

Death of Cardinal Star will Weaken Team

In the death of Austin McHenry of the St. Louis National league club loses one of the best outfielders in the game.

Only a year ago John McGraw anxious to secure an outfielder to take the place of George Burns, is reported to have offered $50,000 for McHenry.

McHenry's death was the result of an operation for the removal of a tumor from the brain.

The loss of McHenry recalls the case of Arnold Hauser of the Cardinals. Hauser, at a time when he was regarded as the greatest shortstop in the game was stricken down by illness and was forced to retire from the game.

McHenry, regarded as one of the stars of the National league, suffered a collapse during the middle stages of the 1922 season. At the time of his illness, however, his condition was not regarded as being serious and he was sent to his home at Stout, Ohio, to recuperate.

Resting for three weeks, McHenry apparently regained his health and he rejoined the Cardinals on their second eastern series in July.

Manager Branch Rickey, however, was satisfied that McHenry had not thoroughly recovered. He played him two games and after delivering a base hit as a pinch hitter in the game of July 31 against Brooklyn, was ordered to return home for the remainder of the season.

AUSTIN B. McHENRY.

OLD TRICK PLAY BEAT LAFAYETTE

By BILLY EVANS.

There are a number of distinct plays in football. Some of these are known by name, some by number. The identity of many become lost.

In the Lafayette-Washington and Jefferson games on the Polo grounds recently, Washington and Jefferson tied the score at 13 in the second half by using a play that had not been seen before by many who attended the game.

In reports of the game this play was described as one invented last year by the University of California. Others credit it to Percy Houghton, former head coach at Harvard.

This play is one of the oldest in football. It was invented by Fielding H. Yost, Michigan's great coach and used by him when he coached football in California before he ever came to Michigan. He has, incidentally, used the play ever since he took charge of football at Michigan.

Last season the play was tried twice by Michigan, failed each time, and has not been used this season. The Wolverines apparently decided the play too old and well known but it was this play that enabled Washington and Jefferson to win what will probably be known at the best game of the 1922 season.

In Use Twenty Years.
This play has for more than 20 years been known as the "Statue of Liberty." It is worked from punt formation. The alleged kicker takes the pass from center.
The opposing ends and linemen are permitted to sift thru. All rush for the alleged kicker. He hands the ball to one of his mates in the back field as the tacklers swarm down on him and the runner, as you see, has an excellent chance of getting thru.

When the forward pass was written into the football rules the play became a finer weapon for Yost. Instead of faking a punt a forward pass was faked. The alleged passer drew back his arm as if to throw and, after the defense sifted thru and he was about to be tackled, one of his mates grabbed the ball and ran.
Until he took the ball this mate was apparently intent only on protecting the passer by blocking Washington and Jefferson worked the "Statue of Liberty" by faking a forward pass. It went thru perfectly for a touchdown. Then Washington and Jefferson followed with another surprise play by forward passing for the point after touchdown and that one point was the margin of victory.

As Mr. Yost remarked once upon a time: "The old ones generally go best. The older they are the better, for the older a play is the less an opposing team ever expects to see it worked."

From Dishwasher to Varsity Quarterback in One Year

By NEA Service.

Columbus, Ohio.—From polishing dishes in a fraternity house kitchen to varsity quarterback on the Ohio State eleven in one short year. Reads a bit like a fairy tale, yet it sums up the career of Ed Judy.

Judy hails from Martins Ferry,
O., where he starred as a high school athlete for four years. On graduation Judy faced the proposition of paying his own way to a college degree and making good on the varsity eleven, his greatest ambition.

Since the start of the season at Ohio State Coach Wilce has been puzzled over the quarterback situation. He has tried out several candidates and has finally decided on Judy as the man to direct the destinies of Ohio State on the gridiron.

High Scholastic Standing
Judy occupies the unique position of being the first sophomore to be at the helm of the Scarlet and Gray since 1915 when Harvard Yerges of Columbus won that berth in his second year.

Experience is all that Judy needs in order to develop into a great quarterback, say his football mentors. Judy has the spirit and the brains. He is a merit student in his classes.

Last year he received an "M"
—the highest mark given in one-third of his academic work and
"G" the rest—the second highest mark. On his graduation at Martins Ferry high school he stood second in his class scholastically. All of which proves that it is possible to indulge in athletics and do good work in the class room.

No Longer Polishes Dishes
Judy, by the way, has graduated from polishing dishes, which is a more polite title to give to a dishwasher. Last summer he toured the small towns in southern Ohio and West Virginia selling aluminum ware. He managed to save enough to start him in a new venture.

He is now a dealer in sweets.
On his summer bank roll he has established serve-self candy stands in various places around the campus. In the morning he replenishes the stocks, in the evening he collects the profits.

ED JUDY

He has established a paying business, but feels that he can handle two jobs, now that the serve-self proposition is paying so well. At the close of the football season he says his services will be on the market for anyone desiring a strong, husky, young man for heavy work.

COACHES WIN HIGH RATING IN FOOTBALL

Who are the leading football coaches of the year?

Bill Roper of Princeton is deserving of a high rating. The Tigers won all eight games on their schedule, defeating Harvard, Yale and Chicago in the Big Six. Gil Dobbs of Cornell, who has developed another great team at Ithaca, is deserving of consideration.

Then there is Knute Rockne of Notre Dame. Having lost a dozen of his star players of 1921, he took a green team and molded it into one of the strongest eleven of the year.

Andy Smith has met with his usual success at California. It is second nature for him to win football honors on the Pacific coast.

Fielding Yost at Michigan is having one of his very best years.
He has developed a smart, versatile team at Ann Arbor.

C. W. Spears, former Dartmouth star, is having a big year at University of West Virginia.
His team is rated as one of the best in the country.

Of course there are many others who have far exceeded expectations, but the above are the outstanding figures in the football world.

Hornsby May Play Short If Lavan Retires

St. Louis, Mo. — The news abled from Tokio recently that ohnny Lavan had been taken ill on the Oriental tour with the major league barn stormers indicates that the veteran shortstop may not return to the game
in 1923.

Lavan was broken in health brought the 1922 season due to a serious attack of influenza contracted with the St. Louis Cardinals at their training camp at Orange, Texas, during the spring.

Altho advised by doctors to rest for the season Lavan tackled the job of shortstopping every now and then. His strength, however, melted away after playing for a week or so and he always was forced to retire to regain his strength.

Lavan has been in the big leagues since 1913, when he was picked by Branch Rickey, chief scout of the St. Louis Browns, from the University of Michigan.
Lavan had played under Rickey when the latter was coach of the Wolverines' baseball squad.

If Lavan is unable to play ball any more Rickey will face a serious problem with his infield.
George Toporcer, who wears spectacles and who served as Lavan's substitute, proved that he did not measure up to the major league grade last summer.

One shift mentioned by Rickey is the return of Rogers Hornsby as shortstop. Hornsby was a shortstopper in his minor league days and played the position until Lavan joined the Cardinals in 1919, when he moved over to second base.

OBITUARY

The death of S. M. Crum leaves a place in the community that cannot be filled, he having lived all his life in the Litterberry neighborhood and was practically known all over the county. He was a believer in the Universal Brotherhood, a friend of children as well as adults. He was a conscientious worker in the church and Sunday school, having filled office in church and Sunday school from county president to precinct president. He was teacher of the Philomena class in the Baptist Sunday school at the time of his death having missed only two Sundays in his last illness. Mr. Crum's death came early Monday morning Nov. 20th, following an illness of pneumonia and heart disease.

The funeral was held at the Epiphany church, Thursday, Nov.
23, conducted by the Rev. Ben Johnson of Springfield, assisted by his brother, Rev. W. R. Johnson, of Winchester. This was the largest funeral ever held in Litter-berry. Rev. Mr. Johnson preached a very sympathetic sermon from these words: "He was a good man." Rev. W. R. Johnson followed the sermon with a very kind talk and offered the closing prayer. Mrs. William Crum and daughter Miss Wilma furnished the music. Old songs were sang some of them favorites of Mr.
and Mrs. Crum. Mrs. Ed Carpenter of St. Louis was the pianist.

The bearers were: C. A.
Beavers, Charles Young, O. M.
Petefish, J. A. Litter, J. L. Com-
bell and A. B. Chapman.

The floral offering was certainly beautiful and so many lovely pieces, sprays, wreaths and other designs that they filled the pulpit and rostrum. They were in charge of Mrs. E. A. Litter, Mrs.
Neil Sorrells, Mrs. W. W. Young,
Mrs. Underbrink, Miss Ruth Mc-Donald and Miss Alta Crum. Mr.
Crum was buried in the family
lot in the Arcadia cemetery, where we left "Uncle Sam," as all the children knew him and called him, sleeping under a profession of lovely flowers.

Looking backward we find a Matthias Crum and his wife, Margaret Spangler Crum of Virginia, came to Clark county, Ind., at an early date.

These good people were the parents of several children, among them was John W. Crum, who was 6 years old when his parents came to Morgan county, Ill. in 1831. John W. Crum was married to Mary A. Coons, Feb. 14, 1850. They became owners of a large tract of land just east of Litterberry, known now as the "old Crum homestead."

S. H. Crum, the subject of this obituary, was their first child, and was born Jan. 14, 1851, at this home, which is now owned by W. H. Crum and wife, S. H.
Crum grew to manhood among cattle, hogs and other stock, making a trip to Chicago many times during his young days to dispose of fat cattle and hogs.

After finishing his school days by a business course, he began to think of making a home for himself; and on December 1st, 1872,
he was married to Miss Jennie Henderson of Arcadia, who was a true helpmate thru life.

Mr. and Mrs. Crum were the parents of two sons: D. H. and Cra, both of Litterberry who with mother are left to mourn their loss. There are also four brothers living: M. M. Crum and James A. Crum, of Jacksonville;
W. H., of Litterberry, and Charles of Denver, Colo.

Those from a distance to attend
the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs.
R. E. Smith and George Morgan of Springfield; Mrs. R. R. Coons, of Rochester. Those from New Berlin were: Mr. and Mrs. W. G.
Coons, Mrs. Lizzie Coons, Miss Lizzie Coons, Jesse Coons, and Mr. and Mrs. William Coons.
Those from St. Louis were: Mrs.
J. M. Coons and son, Samuel,
Mr. and Mrs. Ed Carpenter.

There were friends also from Virginia, Ashland, Pleasant Plains, Arcenville, Concord and Jacksonville.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT WORK SUMMARIZED

Report of Health Department for Month of November Shows Increase in Some Communicable Diseases and Decrease in Others

The health department is busy in both the city and county in the work of communicable disease control. The report of the department for the month of November recently compiled by Dr. R. V. Brokaw, indicates that there has been an increase in chicken pox, scarlet fever and typhoid fever cases during the month, but that there has been a decrease in the number of diphtheria cases. Most of the scarlet fever cases are occurring in children and are of a mild type.

The department is constantly emphasizing the great danger of possible typhoid fever infection under present conditions and is urging the necessity of boiling water that is used from private wells. The department records show that there are now 13 typhoid fever cases existing in the city and that all of them are due to contamination of the water in private wells.

A summary of the work of the department in the city for the month just past shows the following facts:

Number of school visits 4
Examinations (including 62 throat cultures) 99. In this work the department had the co-operation of Miss Ryman, the school nurse.
Individuals quarantined (new cases 137. This total includes chicken pox, 54; scarlet fever, 19; typhoid fever, 13; diphtheria, 5; contacts, 46.
Homes quarantined 52
Homes released 25
Home calls 279
Miscellaneous calls 82

The work of the month has extended to various parts of the county, including visits to the Arcadia, Franklin and Waverly communities and to the following schools: Alexander, Sulphur Springs, Ebenezer, Lynnville, Strawn, Little York, Oak Ridge and Buckhorn.

The department's activities in the county for the month is summarized below:

Number of school visits 9

Children excluded 5
Individuals quarantined 31
Chicken pox 2
Scarlet fever 12
Scarlet suspect 1

"THE RED WIDOW"

* COMING TO GRAND TUESDAY *

George Damerall will again prove to the theatre going public that his newest musical comedy triumph, "The Red Widow" is really the classic offering of the season. "The Red Widow" comes to the Grand theatre Tuesday night.

With the original New York cast and production, including Myrtle Vail upon whom the stellar role falls. Miss Vail will be remembered with Mr. Damerall in the "Merry Widow" and is a musical comedy favorite of real renown.

The wholesome and wonderfully clean offerings which have characterized Mr. Damerall's other productions are adhered to in "The Red Widow" theatre is a musical setting far above the average; packed with refreshing comedy, dainty love episodes, pretty girls, stunningly woven, lilting tunes of the whistling variety; a maze of whirling dancers and carefully trained singers. Unlike most musical comedies "The Red Widow" contains a real plot that takes one to that land of spies, anarchists and nihilists, Red Russia.

The book being written by Channing Pollock and Renold Wolff should be a guarantee enough of its plot and counter plots. The lyrics and music were composed by Chas. J. Gebest. A company of fifty in addition to Mr. Damerall and Miss Vail together with a large chorus of girls that are dancers and singers something that is not seen now-a-days with the average musical show. Altogether "The Red Widow" is a dashy mixture of dance, song, mirth, fun, love.

NORTHWESTERN TO HAVE COURSE OF DENTAL HYGIENE

New Course is the Work of Dr. Arthur D. Black, Dean of the Dental School and His Faculty—Will be Only for Girls—Ten Have Already Registered for the Course

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—The first course in dental hygiene to be established at any middle-western educational institution has been created at the dental school of Northwestern University, Chicago. The new course is the work of Arthur D. Black, dean of the dental school, and his faculty. Dental hygiene will be a year's course at Northwestern. Six hours of lecture work and thirty hours of laboratory, clinic, or public school work is required each week. Only girls who are high school graduates, or can furnish equally valid certificates, are allowed to matriculate. Already 10 young women have registered in the new course. Dean Black and other Chicago dental authorities are firm in the belief that much needless sickness and distress can be avoided by preventive dentistry among children. These men are actively endorsing a widespread movement to have a law passed by the next Illinois legislature providing for the state licensing of women dental hygienists.

The first students in the dental hygiene course will receive their diplomas next June. If the state legislature licenses the profession, the girls will have no trouble in obtaining positions, it is thought.

The beginners in dental hygiene at Northwestern are: Lois Alexander, Detroit; Esther Beck, Miami, Ill.; Kathryn S. Waberle, Findlay, Ill.; Marie A. Knoke, Huntington, Ind.; Olive M. Maden, Watford, Wis.; M. Olive Read, Chicago; Ruth Turner, Forest Park, Ill.; and Edith Ann Winslow, Oak Park, Ill. Stella Mayer, Bridgeport, S. D., is taking a course to prepare for the work of a dental assistant.

The United States has not always preceded its entrance into war by a formal declaration, having begun hostilities against Great Britain in 1812 by invading Canada and seizing British vessels in American ports.

WANT EXPANSION OF EDUCATION

CHICAGO—A department of education in Washington "big enough and broad enough to include both home and school education" is greatly needed, declared Mrs. T. Vernetta Morse, secretary of the Homemakers National Guild speaking today before the Bryn Mawr Women's club. The speaker declared that all education began in the home and was systematized in the public school, and that until the importance of home training should be recognized as an educational factor in their development it would be impossible for the world to receive their best ability.

MAKE SUGGESTIONS ABOUT C. P. L. FUTURE

Committee Representing Cities Along Road Reviews Situation In Letter To Commerce Commission

That the C. P. and St. L. Railroad is not only a necessity but also has sufficient tonnage to keep it alive and prosperous, is the belief expressed by the committee of county representatives of C. P. and St. L. patrons, in a letter sent out from Springfield by H. A. Touhy, chairman of the committee. The letter has been sent by this committee, appointed last week in Springfield, to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, D. C. and copies have been sent to all the cities and towns along the line. The letter sets forth the great importance to the agricultural and industrial sections along the route, of keeping the railroad in operation and summarizes the issues involved in the case.

Some suggestions from the committee's letter are given: The issues involved in this case may be summarized in these words:

Shall an eight million dollar property having a potential earning capacity sufficient to net a fair return on four millions of dollars be totally destroyed in order that the owners of two million dollars of its obligations, or only one fourth of the total, may realize approximately 85 cents on the dollar, when that destruction shall entail:

1. The total loss of $6,000,000 of money invested in the property with a faith equal to that of the investors who are to be reimbursed in part.

2. An incalculable loss to the business interests of the cities and towns now served competitively or noncompetitively by the line.

Disregarding for the purposes of this appeal to your Commission the standing in law and rights of the security holders who seek, in this proceeding, the abandonment of 250 miles of railroad which, under certain conditions, may be made to operate at a profit, these suggestions occur to the committee and are offered for such consideration as they may command:

1. Assuming that the line, in good physical condition and with proper equipment, might be made a profitable $4,000,000 investment as it had proved itself to be in the year 1917, and assuming further that $5,000,000,000 of the $8,000,000,000 of obligations with which the road is now burdened, are absolutely lost (and if the line is scrapped this is true), it is not beyond the realm of possibilities that a reorganization could be effected with $4,000,000,000 of new capital or bonded obligations disbursed as follows:

$1,000,000 to discharge current liabilities, receiver's certificates, etc.
$2,000,000 to rehabilitate line.
$1,000,000 of bonds to be given present first mortgage bondholders in exchange for their present holdings of two million.

2. $3,000,000,000 of investment, rather than $4,000,000,000 disbursed.
$1,000,000,000 current liabilities.

$1,500,000,000 rehabilitation.
$500,000,000 exchange for first mortgage bonds.

(Either of these proposals involves the taking of an extra loss by none but present first mortgage bondholders—3-4 million in the first instance and 1-1-4 million in the second. Should either plan have serious consideration, the issue would resolve itself again into the first of our question, viz: Shall a sum aggregating between 3-4 million and 1-1-4 millions stand in the way of the salvation of an eight million dollar property and the conservation of the public interest, which is an intangible element for inestimable value?)

3. An amalgamation of the line with connection that would open for both, new opportunities for increased traffic which neither line operating independently might hope to obtain. This joint operation and control might be undertaken for a test period of one year during which time its possibilities could be established and if found successful a settlement satisfactory to bondholders might be reached. If unsuccessful the loss occasioned would be small for the line at the end of the test period would have the same scrap value it now has.

Either plan might contemplate what would amount to a virtual exemption from taxation for a term of years, thereby gaining from the communities, their contribution to the common cause. The yearly saving thus effected would amount to $125,000 this being the average of annual tax charges for several years past. In this connection it may be added that for taxation purposes, the State Tax Commission has fixed the value of the property at approximately $7,500,000,000.

PRODUCTION SHOWS HEAVY DECREASE

London.—(By the A. P.)—Coal production in England has dropped 12,400,000 tons, or about 40 per cent since 1913. The heads of the coal miners unions declare that the decrease in production is not due to the lack of supply, but to the fact that the mine owners are closing down entirely or partially as a means of forcing the unions to make concessions in the matter of wages and hours.

IMPROVEMENT NOT YET GENERAL, SAYS BABSON

Statistician Says Only Half of Business World Yet Affected

WELLESLEY HILLS, Dec. 2.—Roger W. Babson today called attention to a very important fact in discussing the general industrial revival.

"Depressions hit the country very much like a storm," says Mr. Babson, "and just as they affect different localities of the country in regular sequence they also affect the different divisions of our business world in different degrees and at different times."

"The fact that a depression ordinarily starts in the Northeast works south and west, finishing its course in California, is clearly evident from a statistical study of the situation. If we look at the business world we find it dividing itself into four big divisions and we find that the business depression traces its regular course thru this industrial fabric."

"First, there is the Raw Materials Group, or iron and steel companies, coppers and oils, crop and live stock producers. Second, there is the Transportation Group, the railroads and steam ships. Third, there is the Manufacturing Group with its automobile factories, textile mills and the other fabricators of finished products. Fourth, and finally there is the Distribution Group headed by the wholesale houses, mail firms, chain stores, and finishing with the multitude of retail establishments."

"Now what happens to these Big Four Groups when a business depression hits the country? The first to suffer is the Manufacturing Group. This is partly the result of financial stringency. Take the recent depression, it appeared first among shoe factories, textile mills, and other factories. In a broad way these are concentrated in the Northeast section of the country, and it was exactly in this region that trouble first appeared. This was entirely characteristic. It is what happened also in earlier periods of business depression. Farsighted executives foresaw long in advance, that this would be the first part of the country to weaken, because it is the home of the Manufacturing Group."

"Then comes the next act in the drama depression. As the logical result of curtailed manufacturing, we get a slump in the Raw Materials Group. When a shoe factory shuts down, orders for leather shrink. When a textile mill closes, demand for cotton and wool dies down. So the initial weakness in the Northeast spreads to the West and the South. The West and the South are the home of the Raw Material Group."

"As the traffic in finished goods and raw materials subsides, there is lessened activity for the Transportation Group. The railroad business is holding its recent improvement. The index of the Babson chart shows general activity about 3 percent below normal—the same as last week."

SCHOOLS HAVE BEEN PLUCKING WRONG GOOSE

A. M. Shelton Says on the Wrong Track is the Matter of Securing Revenue—Outlines Proposals for Changing Revenue Laws

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—That the schools of Illinois have been "plucking the wrong goose" in the matter of securing revenue, is the contention of A. M. Shelton, chairman of the Illinois Educational Commission.

"In outlining the commission's proposals for change in the school revenue laws, Mr. Shelton pleaded for a greater share in revenue from indirect taxation and for a scientific plan that will 'increase automatically the annual amount of state aid for distribution with each biennium.' He declared the alleged tendency of recent years to determine appropriations by what he called the 'efficiency of a school lobby.'"

"The amount of state aid," Mr. Shelton said, "should be upon a sliding scale according to the ability and the efforts put forth by the district to maintain good schools. 'It is an old economic principle that in obtaining revenues, the goose with the least squawk should be plucked. The schools have been plucking exclusively the wrong goose. As a matter of fairness, a reasonable amount of the income derived from indirect taxation should go to the support of the schools.'"

"The present ratio of one dollar from the state to approximately every ten dollars provided by the local district is not satisfactory. The amount provided by the state is now $8,000,000. If this amount were doubled the ratio would be 1:5 which would be far more satisfactory."

"It is essential to determine a plan that will automatically increase the annual amount of state aid for distribution with each biennium. The amount appropriated should be determined not the efficiency of a school lobby, but rather by definitely known increases in pupil enrollment, by a larger number of better prepared teachers, by a longer term and by better prepared schools."

References to dental operations are found in writings as old as those of Herodotus and Hippocrates, in the fifth century, B. C.

INTELLIGENT VOTE IS WANTED BY CLUB

Woman's City Club of Chicago Will Have Digest in Club Bulletin Prepared by Gertrude Lieber

Chicago.—(By A. P.)—The Woman's City Club wants a perfectly intelligent vote on the proposed Illinois constitution, according to an article by Gertrude Lieber which will appear in the current issue of the Woman's City Club Bulletin. The writer will summarize arguments for and against disputed provisions in a brief digest.

"The greatest reason advanced for a new constitution," she will say, "was the need of a change in our revenue and finance laws. Article VII deals at length with this question, going twenty sections to its provisions. Those in favor of the constitution hold that unless provisions are broad and equitable and that the legislature may distribute taxes among all the people so that no particular kind of property or set of citizens will have to bear more than their just proportions. Where now only about one in every ten pays taxes, the new basic law will mean that about seven in every ten will pay taxes."

"On the other hand, those opposed say it will work great hardship on the wage earner. Their opposition is summed up by William H. Holly, as follows: 'It will be observed that under these provisions the landlord who derives as income from a house or apartment will be allowed to deduct from his income tax the tax he has paid on the property from which he derives his rent. But the wage-earner, who has been frugal and purchased a little home for his family, will not be allowed to deduct from his income tax the amount of taxes he has paid on his home. This is extremely unfair to the man of small means.'"

"Section 21 reads: 'The republican form of government of this state shall never be abandoned, modified or impaired.' This is entirely new—and those opposed to the constitution say it prohibits the adoption of the general assembly of laws initiating the initiative, referendum and recall. The Chicago Bureau of Public Efficiency says in its explanatory notes on this section (in part)—'This provision will be judicially enforceable and its meaning and effect must be finally determined by the Illinois supreme court.'"

"Article V deals with the judicial department. Much is spoken and written both for and against this article. Any voters will welcome any change that will reduce crime and lessen the cost of prosecution of criminals. The framers of the new law hold absolutely to this point of view. Those opposed feel that the proposed changes will give too much power to our supreme court and make the courts possibly more accessible to political pressure."

STAR RZ CEPHEI IS MOVING THRU SPACE AT AMAZING SPEED

Harvard University Astronomers Estimate its Speed at Nearly 2,500,000 Miles an Hour—Is 3,000 Light years Distant from the Earth—Speed Greatest Yet Measured

(By The Associated Press)
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 2.—Nearly two and a half million miles per hour, or 1,100 kilometres per second, is the speed-record set by the star RZ Cephei, which, according to a bulletin issued by the Harvard College Observatory, has been found by Harvard astronomers to be moving through space with a greater velocity than that of any other star whose speed has yet been determined.

This star, a variable star of the so-called cluster type, has long been known to astronomers, but its velocity was never measured until recently. It is far too faint to be seen with the naked eye, being of the tenth magnitude. It is in the constellation Cepheus, and is 3800 light years distant from the earth, which means that the light from it which astronomers now see thru their telescopes started on its journey to the earth in the time of the shepherd kings of Egypt, nearly 1900 years before Christ. That distance is only a small fraction of the distance from the earth to some of the more distant star-clusters, but the outstanding fact about RZ Cephei is that its velocity as it flies thru space is the greatest yet known for a star.

RULING BIG SAVING ON USERS OF BREAD

CHICAGO—Thru a recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, denying express companies the right to increase rates on cake and bread shipments, users of these commodities in some communities are saved between $200,000 and $300,000 yearly, according to a statement by Dr. H. E. Barnard, secretary of the American Bakers association. Dr. Barnard asserted that had the proposed rate become effective, the increase in many instances would have been 100 percent in the shipping rate on cake and 18 percent on bread, which, while not affecting the retail prices in cities having bakeries, would have affected the prices in the sparsely settled communities. According to Dr. Barnard 25 cents a loaf is a common price for bread in isolated small communities, while in parts of Nevada the people pay 35 cents for a loaf of Los Angeles bread, which sells in that city for 10 cents.

"Bakers have found," said Dr. Barnard, "that people stop eating cake when it retails for more than 30 cents per pound. We won our case on the contention that as flour, eggs, milk, cream and butter enter into the making of cake, it should be classed as a food, not a luxury."

FIFTY CUPS OFFERED AS PRIZES

Decatur, Ill.—Fifty cups are to be offered as prizes at the second annual show of the Central Illinois Allied Pet Stock association to be held here in January.

The bird division of the show will have three divisions: bantams, pigeons and cage birds.

The speed of the star was measured at the Harvard Observatory by a complicated process of observations and computations, including among other things the comparison of photographs recently taken at Harvard with others taken 31 years ago, when the Observatory was just beginning its task of preserving a photographic history of the entire sky. Since that time a "sky patrol" has been kept without interruption at Cambridge, supplemented by photographs taken at the station at Arequipa, Peru, and this history of the stars down to the eleventh magnitude has been written by the stars themselves on over a quarter of a million photographic plates weighing in all one hundred and forty tons. Most of the discoveries made by Harvard astronomers, it is said at Cambridge, are not made by looking thru a telescope at night, as is popularly supposed, but by doing what was done in the case of this discovery of the speed of RZ Cephei, by studying and measuring by day, in the laboratory, photographs taken at night and by computing the significance of the changes in the brilliance or position or spectra of the stars as recorded on these plates.

WRITES INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT SOUTH

C. E. Wood Tells Journal Readers Incidents of Trip Thru Various Southern States.

The following letter has been written to the Journal by C. E. Wood, who is now in the south on business connected with the E.H. Bridge Co., of this city. Mr. Wood gives an interesting account of his trip, which is printed below:

Bamberg, S. C., Nov. 25, 1922.

Editor Journal:

I left Jacksonville Oct. 31st., and my first stop was at West Baden and French Lick, Ind. The first named is called the "Carlsbad of America" on account of its famous springs and magnificent hotel, which the people there claim is the eighth wonder of the world. And it is truly wonderful, in reality a small city, for there are shops and stores and a movie house all under the one roof. The grounds are beautiful indeed and still being improved. French Lick is the home of Tom Taggart and his famous Pluto Springs, and is called the "Monte Carlo of America." Most people know what Monte Carlo stands for, and they say that the "sky" is the "limit." The sheriff raided the place a few days before I got there and when he got inside they had everything fixed for a big banquet. The chief of police who told me about it didn't say whether the sheriff stayed for the banquet or not but I suppose he did.

I had the pleasure—if you call it that—of taking a drink out of the original "Pluto Spring," and the taste and smell are certainly in keeping with the trade mark of Pluto water, which is "Old Nick" himself.

The hotel at French Lick is a grand building and the grounds simply wonderful, including golf links and other amusements. Ed Ballard, of circus fame also lives at French Lick and the morning I left there the Hagenback-Wallace circus was returning there for the winter.

Both West Baden and French Lick have a world wide reputation as health resorts, but the days I spent there I didn't see a single person who looked sick to me. There were lots of people at both places but they all seemed to be enjoying life to the fullest extent. They have lots of fine saddle horses there. Tom Taggart, Jr., winters his stable of trotters and pacers there, which he races successfully thru the grand circuit.

My next stop was at Louisville, Ky., but as I was there just one night I did not see much of the city. From there I went to Glasgow, Ky., which is about one hundred miles south of Louisville and is located at the end of a privately owned railroad which is operated by the L. & N. system.

Glasgow is a city of about 4,500 and is the county seat of Barren county. The Democrats have a big majority and they have the Republican party backed off the boards in the way of protection, for everybody from shoe cobbler on up has to pay a license to run a business in the town.

Glasgow is a great tobacco and hard wood lumber market. I saw over a hundred wagons loaded with tobacco in town one day while I was there and had the privilege of being on the tobacco market on two different days and seeing them grade the tobacco and then sell it at auction. As the wagons are unloaded there are men who grade the tobacco and put in regular baskets they have for that purpose and after it is graded the different grades are put in long rows in the warehouse. Then the auctioneer and the buyers start down the rows and he sells as they walk, never stopping from one end of the row until the other.

The auctioneer cries in a sing song voice and one not accustomed to anything of the kind cannot understand much about what it is bringing, but there are two clerks who follow up and mark the price on a card and the name of the buyer.

These baskets are all weighed as they are graded before they are put in the rows to sell. The highest price I saw was $41 per hundred for burley and $32 for dark tobacco, and that was counted a good price down there.

The warehouse in which I attended these sales had a floor space of over 5 acres, which they told me was among the largest in the state. There is lots of tobacco handled thru the pool there. You put your crop in the associations warehouse and they have their graders fix a price on it. They pay you so much when you put it in the warehouse and later as it is sold.

I saw lots of logs hauled in and some of them came as far as 18 to 20 miles. I saw lots of six mule teams with the driver riding the near wheel mule and driving with a "jerk" line. It is about 100 miles east of Glasgow before you come to another railroad, so there is a very large territory to draw from. There is a chamber of commerce there and they are a wide awake bunch and always looking for something for Glasgow.

I went from there to Atlanta, Ga., but was there but a few hours, but from what I could see it is a very thriving city with lots of skyscrapers. The Southern railroad has a fine station there.

From there I went to Charlotte, N. C., which is out of the old cities but which is making rapid strides in progress in the last few years, as there are several fine office buildings there and more under construction.

Greenville is another fine city, which has grown wonderfully in the last twelve years, as the census in 1910 gave it as 18,000 and now they claim 48,000. They are just completing a 15 story office building and everything seemed to be booming and everyone you talked to would say "This is the best town in the south." They were certainly all loyal to their home town.

From Greenville I went to Augusta and on to Bamberg, the county seat of Bamberg county. I spent Friday and Saturday, Nov. 23 and 24, there attending their free fair. Friday was the colored folks day and believe me it was some day. The C. D. Scott Shows were there and the Ferris wheel and merry-go-round certainly did capacity business from 10:30 in the morning until late at night. All the other attractions seemed to be getting their share. The fair was similar to the auto shows they have at home. All the exhibits and booths were in a tobacco warehouse and they had some very nice ones.

The thing that impressed me most was the exhibits of the colored people. There is an industrial school at Denmark, S. C., a short distance from Bamberg, and they train the children in all branches there. There was a colored juvenile band from Charleston which furnished some splendid music. The mayor made a speech of welcome and then Judge Mayfield made an address. It began to turn cold Saturday

PLEASANT GROVE

Mrs. Mary McNeely who has been caring for Grandma Crouse returned home Friday.

Born to D. J. Crouse Nov. 23, a morning and continued all day and night and today it snowed all day. I find that snow is a good deal like Mark Twain said about human nature—pretty much the same the world over, that is, snow is just as cold down here as it is up north.

I am writing this in Augusta, where I am remaining all night, but as this has already grown too lengthy I will close.

Respectfully yours,
C. E. WOOD.

It is true our profit per sale is smaller than we could make on other cars—but the number of sales and friends we make more than offset the smaller margin. The value is there—everyone who keeps a record of his operating cost on a Studebaker knows this.

Run-Down Women Face to Face With Old Age!

Blood-Power Builds Nerve-Power, Strength, Endurance. Energy, Girlish Charm! S. S. S. is Remarkable in Building Blood-Power and Nerve-Power!

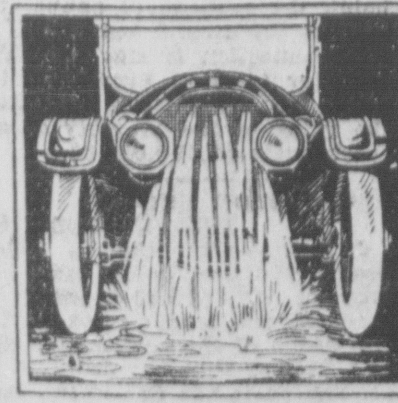

She is not 40 in years yet but she is run-down, exhausted and that is just what old age is. S.S.S. will build up your blood-power. This gives strength always!

Madam, this truth may give you the "creeps." Shudder as you will, this fact states you to the fact! You cannot deny it! If you face the fact, you can add glorious strength to your weakened body. You can add new vigor to your life, and bring back some of the glorious charm of your girlhood days! But if you refuse to believe it, then no power on earth can help you! When you are exhausted, when you feel like "dropping down" on every seat you come to, that very thing you feel is nothing but early old age. Exhaustion and old age are practically the same thing. Both mean a "wearing out." The number of years you have spent on earth has nothing to do with the way you feel! Remember this, the number of blood-cells you have controls your nerves, your vitality, your health and strength! It is all you have. The answer then is, build up your blood-power! S. S. S. has been used since 1888 as one of the greatest blood-cell builders known. It contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. It is also a remarkable blood purifier. This is why it has proven such startling results in rheumatic conditions, in stopping pimples, eczema, skin eruptions, in clearing and beautifying the complexion, and in building up the worn out men and women, and in building great nerve power! You are only as strong as your blood! Stronger and more youthful nerves depend on blood-power! Stronger blood shows at once in your face, in the strength of every organ. S. S. S. will give you great energy, strength and more youthful appearance. Stop getting old before your time! S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again

BANCROFT OPTICAL SHOP

About two per cent of automobile accidents are caused by defective machinery, such as defective brakes, loss of control, etc.; about twenty five per cent is attributed to speeding and recklessness, and approximately fifty per cent to defective vision. Many drivers of machines admit, that they did not see the other car until it was too late to stop.

The three defects causing most of the accidents due to faulty vision are far and near sightedness, complicated by astigmatism and a restricted vision and night blindness.

will give a joint recital in Lyon and Healy hall, Chicago, on March 18th, 1933. This will be under the management of Harry Colbertson.

Mme. Colard will sing Handel's Largo at the Elks memorial service on Sunday, Dec. 3rd. Miss Horsburgh and Mr. Wessner will play the violin and piano accompaniments.

Much interest is being taken in the forthcoming appearance of Valentina Crespi, Italian violinist, under the auspices of the Artist course. New York critics have claimed her to be one of the best women violinists of the day. Her training has been under the leading teachers of Milan and Paris, while her studies were completed under the justly famous Hubay. Her playing certainly has proven that she is an artist who meets all the demands of the very best violin music and her public never tires of her.

James Hamilton, tenor, who will be heard on Dec. 11 with Miss Crespi is one of the greatest lyric tenors of today, although young in years, Mr. Hamilton has had an interesting career, having been on the stage as an actor, which he later forsook for the more placid career of a business man until he was finally persuaded to devote all his time to the development of his really beautiful natural voice. Mr. Hamilton has already been heard in hundreds of cities and towns of America and is praised everywhere as a most distinguished artist.

Woman's College Notes

The outstanding event at Woman's college this week—has been the Thanksgiving celebration on Thursday. As usual, the students of the college followed the custom of making up baskets of good things to eat and distributing them to families recommended to them by the Social Service league; a larger number than usual were taken care of this year. The town girls joined with the house students in this work, distributing of the baskets being in charge of a group of the town students.

The program of Thanksgiving day was carried out as announced in the papers, with the exception that Miss Mittendorf of the class of 1926, responded to the toast, "What the Freshmen Think of Thanksgiving."

The Spanish club put on a very interesting play Tuesday night in the Social room. Wednesday morning at ten o'clock Fred Rugg gave a brief lecture on the mysteries and wonders of liquid air. The subject was one which interested a great many of the students and faculty, and his address and demonstrations were carefully followed.

Among those from out of town who were at the college for Thanksgiving were Misses Dorothy Remley, Hazel Quick, Irene Schlosser, Lois Coults, Hazel Dell, Vera Wardner, Marian Sipple and Louise Gates.

Additional word comes that more of the Woman's college graduates were successful in the recent political campaign. A letter has just been received that Miss Pauline Patton of Fergus, Montana, has been elected county superintendent of schools of Fergus county, with headquarters at Lewistown, Montana. This is one of the largest counties in the United States.

The student Volunteers of Woman's college have been extremely busy in helping take care of the visitors that have come to Jacksonville from all parts of the state. The exercises are to be held at Grace church and at Congregational church. A fine body of young people is being entertained by the loyal people of Jacksonville for the students of the two colleges.

The John Herrin Art institute, Indianapolis, Indiana, has asked Professor Nellie A. Knopf for the privilege of exhibiting her painting "From the Top of Mount Manitou" at their annual exhibition of American paintings to be held during January. This picture is now on exhibition at the Chicago Art institute in the thirty-fifth annual exhibition of oil paintings by American artists; and the Omaha Fine Arts museum has asked Professor Knopf for her painting, "Pike's Peak" for the Omaha annual exhibition by American artists to be held in January. This painting is also now on exhibition at the Chicago Art institute, and both canvases were painted in Colorado the past summer. The Chicago exhibition closes December 10th. A group of art students has gone to Chicago with Miss Knopf to see the art exhibition now being shown there.

The plays given by the members of the Dramatic club in Music hall Thanksgiving evening were judged to be the best one-act plays ever given at the college. They were presented with very much spirit, were very well liked by the audience, and were a credit to the director, Miss Ida B. Davis. The "Rising of the Moon" is a Lady Gregory play and was presented with much dramatic expression. "Mechanical Jane" kept the entire house in an uproar, while the last, "The Florist Shop," had a beautiful setting, and was also a fun maker. There was a good crowd and the proceeds were approximately forty-five dollars clear.

The hockey championship was won by the sophomores, class of '25, on Thanksgiving morning at 9 o'clock. A large crowd witnessed the game and it was exciting every minute. The "25ers" won by a score of 6-0. On last Wednesday, November 22 the sophomores won over the freshmen, 6-1. The two winning teams the juniors and sophomores, played the last game Thursday, which decided the championship. The names of the winning team are as follows: Captain, Donnell Keys; Charlotte Rodgers, Ethel Morris, Opal Morgan, Bernice Zimmerman, Beatrice Hasenstab, Thelma Pires, Ruth Muirhead, Eleanor Dowd, Maurine Gilpin, Ruth Armstrong, Ramona Pfendler, Hazel Moore and Ethel Keller.

Large Population is Predicted for Chicago

CHICAGO—In 1940 Chicago will have 3,733,000 inhabitants and Cook county 4,474,000, according to calculations of Albert P. Allen, commercial engineer of the Illinois Bell Telephone company. A decided trend to the farms in Illinois is another prediction of Mr. Allen, based, he affirms, on study of conditions in the state.

Providing any community with adequate telephone facilities is a task that requires at least a twenty year's foresight as to its growth, in order to insure maximum efficiency of service and financial economy, Mr. Allen said in explaining the grounds for his predictions.

"While the basis of our surveys is history," he continued, "we make a careful study of the number of families, graded according to the rent paid as the ratio of telephones and increase with the rent. The character of each block in the commercial district and each neighborhood in their residential district is studied. This result is plotted and compared with the previous survey. The family is used as the unit of service, so that as 50 percent of the families in Chicago and telephones in 1920, we know this number will increase yearly by comparison with the decade between 1910 and 1920."

The ratio and individual power plants are among the latest improvements which Mr. Allen believes will draw the population toward the rural districts. To substantiate this he said "From 1900 to 1910, fifty Illinois counties lost population and fifty-two gained; from 1910 to 1920 there was a loss in fifty-five counties and a gain in forty-seven. According to this ratio the decade from 1930 to 1940 will show a loss in forty-five counties and a gain in forty-seven, which will be noted in the distinctly rural counties."

FAIR DIRECTORS HELD MEETING

Will Put Matter of Incorporating
Up to Membership—Letter is Sent Out.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Morgan County Breeders' fair held yesterday the matter of incorporation was considered. It was decided to put the matter up to a vote of the membership of the fair association and to give the matter final consideration at the annual meeting of the association set for December 15, in the fair headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The following letter has been sent out to the members by the president, L. A. Reed, and the secretary, Harold Welch:

To the Members of the Morgan County Breeders' Fair:

It has been recently called to our attention that the Morgan County Breeders' fair is not incorporated, and in case of unforeseen circumstances, all members of the association might become liable for more than they have subscribed to the association.

We employed an attorney to look into the situation and ascertained that this information was substantially correct, and as a result of his advice, we are now convinced that we ought to incorporate under the laws of Illinois as a corporation not for pecuniary profit and thereby safeguard you who are members as well as ourselves as officers from incurring further personal liability.

The fair has been a decided success and we have every reason to believe it will become larger and greater, but we are not disposed to endanger all of your or our personal and private resources to keep it going. We recommend this change at this time while everything is in good shape.

Under the change contemplated your membership in the old association would be transferred to the new corporation which would safeguard us all from further personal liability and will also allow us to proceed with our business transactions in a much more satisfactory manner.

Remember that such a change will cost you nothing. Will you please sign and return the post card which will be sent you under separate cover thereby enabling us to make this much needed change.

Yours very truly, board of directors,
By L. A. Reed, President.
Attest: Harold Welch, Secretary.

With Morgan County Poets TO A NEW PIPE-ORGAN

What tho you seem to preach no certain creed,
Nor method of salvation for mankind,
How might Religion fare without your meed
Of solace to the heart, or soul, or mind?

What are you? Neither text nor invocation,
Sacrifice nor sacrament, roll-call
Nor sermon, benediction nor oblation—
Not any one of these you are, but all.

All faiths you serve, and find no fault with each;
With article or dogma anywhere
You have no quarrel—nay, the truth you teach Transcends mere words however strong or fair.

Or broad or narrow be the doctrine taught,
Your part is always just beyond the scope
Of syllables, the harness of man's thought,
The checks with which his visions have to cope.

Or rather say, you serve no ends of those Who lean on creeds, but they indeed serve yours—
Broad as from star to star in heav'n that glows,
Deep as the sea of God's grand out-of-doors.

And while sometimes in spirit you agree,
Or sometimes contradict the Pastor's bent,
None knowing or unknowing but shall be
The better for your gracious sacrament.

Thy words and precepts fade beyond recall,
Your echoes linger after we adjourn,
That barren-minded none may leave the hall,
Or empty-hearted to the world return.

The New Constitution

Judge Harry Olson of Chicago in an address to the members of the Illinois Bar Association made the following statement about "The New Constitution and the Administration of Justice":

Bail.

"The change in Article 1, Section 7, makes it identical with the language of the United States Constitution. It would make it possible to refuse bail to a habitual criminal. Professional criminals are those now deriving the greatest benefit from bail. The present constitution undoubtedly is responsible for freeing many dangerous persons who continue their depredations upon society while under bail. A person who would presume abuse by judges of the power to refuse bail would, doubtless like to take from the courts all power. If, however, abuses should arise, the legislature would be free to regulate the matter. A further great safeguard lies in the unification of the courts under responsible management, where the court itself could prescribe rules to check abuse of the right to bail and in addition would insure speedy trial, thus doing away with ninety-five per cent of the need for bail."

"The objections being voiced to this section, which adopts the time-honored language of the United States Constitution, illustrates the balshvick opposition to law enforcement voiced in certain criticisms of the new constitution."

Grand Jury Procedure

"Article 1, Section 8, permits of prosecuting felonies not involving capital punishment without employing the grand jury. This is a reform which has been needed for two generations. It was debated in the constitutional convention of 1870 and the law as it has stood since that time has been a vile compromise, providing that the grand jury may be abolished 'in all cases.'"

"It is not desirable to abolish grand jury procedure in all cases, and so the great evil of employing it in all cases has perforce continued, to the obvious detriment of the administration of justice."

"When charges affecting persons or officials strongly entrenched in political, financial or social power are made to a state's attorney he may hesitate to proceed, the witnesses may fear to disclose facts, or secrecy may be desired in order to procure evidence. Under such conditions the grand jury is efficacious. Being composed of a number of persons the responsibility is collective; its secrecy guarantees protection to witnesses; and nothing more is done after all except to accuse."

"But such cases are comparatively rare, not constituting one per cent of the felony cases in Cook county. In ninety-five per cent of the felony cases the grand jury cannot do any good whatever; it is merely a useless drag on justice. It puts the state's witnesses to a considerable trouble; it interposes delay and increases the chances of the accused to escape conviction."

"Worst of all, this useless and pernicious grand jury business, imposed under the old constitution, takes up so much time that it interferes seriously with the genuine inquisitorial business of the grand jury. Little time is left for investigating such offenses of a serious public nature as ballot frauds, conspiracies to wrongfully increase the price of commodities; conspiracies to obstruct justice; to injure business and trade; to bribe jurors and legislators; to do acts injurious to the public safety, and so forth. The grand jury in Chicago is overwhelmed with petty, routine business."

"I could tell at length from my own knowledge of instances when a grand jury has been imposed upon so that it has released undoubted criminals and so that it has oppressed the innocent. It is influenced largely by the assistant state's attorney detailed to assist it. Sometimes the assistant is not sufficiently experienced and sometimes he is untruthful."

"So far as safety to the individual is concerned the procedure outlined in the new constitution is as much safer as it is more prompt and economical. It provides that no information shall be filed without the consent of a judge of a court of record. It should be remembered also that all this procedure has to do only with accusation. The accused persons still have every opportunity for defense before the trial jury presided over by another judge."

"Reform of the grand jury would in a few months be worth to Chicago the million dollars which the constitutional convention and special election are said to entail."

ALEXANDER COUNTY SHOWS GRATITUDE

Cairo, Ill.—Alexander county has been showing its gratitude for what the Red Cross did in this section during last spring's floods by rolling up a great membership list in the present Red Cross chapter roll, according to Grant Bergner, field agent for the association.

Unsatisfied with ordinary solicitation, the workers here have organized every block of the city and every school district of the county and with the help of a motor corps secured 2,000 new members, which puts this county in the lead of sixteen Southern Illinois counties.

Agriculture Is More Stabilized

U. OF I. EXPERIMENTS WITH SOIL BINS

URBANA, Ill.—If it is true that crop rotations as now planned and recommended will produce an adequate supply of nitrogen of the growth and proper use of legumes in the rotation, the purchase of commercial forms of nitrogen will be necessary. If it is not true such purchase will ultimately become a necessity.

To answer this important question was one of the primary reasons for constructing the famous "soil bins" at the University of Illinois and the resultant experiments that have been going on for the past several years.

In order to answer this question, it is necessary to know not only nitrogen content of the soil but also the amount of this element added to the soil in the manures, by legume fixation and by rainfall, as well as the total amounts removed in crops and in drainage water. "In order to approach actual field conditions so far as possible, and yet provide for the accurate determination of nitrogen added to and lost from the soil, the soil bins were constructed."

These soil bins consist of 16 concrete bins, one rod square by one-half rod deep, arranged that all of the drainage water from each may be collected, measured and sampled for analysis. They are filled with natural field soil made as uniform as possible and are subjected to field conditions with respect to natural environment, cropping, system and cultivation. It is hoped, by means of the soil bins, that the investigators may definitely answer the important question relating to the supply of nitrogen for the production of farm crops. At the same time similar studies may also be made with respect to other plant food elements that the subject to loss from the soil by leaching, such as calcium, sulphur and potassium.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Agriculture in Illinois is outgrowing a more or less haphazard stage and reaching a business basis, according to A. J. Surratt, government agricultural statistician, whose work brings him into close touch with the problems of the farmer. The problems of agriculture, he declared, must be solved largely in the same way that problems of other large industries are solved.

"No large business can be conducted without records of past performance and knowledge of prevailing conditions," he said. "Nor can the great business of agriculture be properly conducted without such records. Agricultural statistics are the records of the industry and are the basis for the intelligent handling of the business end of our agricultural problems. The state requires these records from year to year for the basis of the enactment of wise laws for the development and benefit of agriculture as well as to measure the success of the work of the various agricultural organizations."

The regular collection and publication of agricultural statistics permits such information to be presented monthly in comparison with the records for previous years, so that the farmers or small dealer may have practically the same broad information that is available to the big dealers."

Charges that government crop reports chiefly benefit the speculator were characterized by Mr. Surratt as "unfair and unwarranted."

"The injustice of such criticisms," he declared, "is evident to the farmer who investigates. He will find that the speculator is well equipped to secure his crop information from private sources. By assisting the government in the work of collecting crop information, the farmer, will make it easier to supply the public with the information, which the large market centers of the country have and always will have for their private use."

A Bazar will be held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Harney, 324 South Church St., Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 4 and 5. Hours, 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

MONTHLY WEATHER REPORT FROM GREENE COUNTY

White Hall, Dec. 1.—The monthly summary of weather conditions prevailing at White Hall during November shows an average temperature of 45.5 degrees, 1.2 degrees higher than normal. Mean maximum 54.8, mean minimum 36.2 degrees. The highest reading was 70 on the 1st and the lowest 18 on the 25th.

For the first time since May 1 the precipitation shows an excess over normal, it being 3.02 inches for November, which is 0.38 of an inch above normal. The greatest in 24 hours was 1.17 inches on the 13th. There were ten days with participation of 0.01 inch or more, 14 clear, five partly cloudy and 11 cloudy days. There was no snow.

Weather cranks will find an analysis of the rainfall situation somewhat illuminating in view of the lessening water supply in wells and for farming purposes. Since May 1st there has been a deficiency of rainfall of 13.14 inches but the months of March, April and November show a total excess of 10.66 inches, leaving a deficiency of only 2.48 inches since January 1st. The torrential rains during March and April totaled 10.28 inches.

Several squalls occurred on the first. At 10 a. m. on that date a hen house and a milk house were blown some distance and wrecked at the farm of A. V. Houghton, near Patterson, seven miles north west of White Hall. A separator and two empty tin buckets in the milk house were undisturbed. A buggy belonging to Mr. Houghton was overturned two or three times and smashed on a fence.

The physical geography class of the high school visited the local station on the 15th, and each pupil has prepared a paper on the value and scope of the weather bureau service.

S. W. NICHOLS WRITES LETTER FROM ARIZONA

Local Man Spending Winter In Tombstone, Ariz., Tells Journal Readers Interesting Facts About His Present Location.

S. W. Nichols has written the following letter from Tombstone, Ariz., where he is now spending a number of months. Mr. Nichols' many Morgan county friends will be glad to know that his health has already been greatly benefited by the climate there, and will hope for continued improvement. The letter follows: Tombstone, Ariz., Nov. 29, '22 Dear Journal:

Now that I have been here five weeks and over I will give my friends a little account of myself. In the first place I am most fortunately situated with the pastor of the Congregational church, Rev. Thomas Armstrong and wife, most lovely people in all respects. They are kind and considerate, let me do just as I please and on my part I try to be just as little trouble as possible.

The lady has here an invalid brother, badly crippled with rheumatism, and we four compose the family. They have to have three regular meals, fire in the sitting room and conditions suitable for the invalid so I feel I am no extra burden. When I arrived I was still troubled with that fearful cough which tormented me since Sept. 5 and, owing to my weakened condition it failed to yield as readily as it yielded when I first came here in January 1921. After two or three weeks Mr. Armstrong took from his library a book which had in it an article which seemed to fit my case.

It said that possibly the cause of much such coughing and expectorating was the fact that the internal organs were not functioning properly in removing refuse matter from the system and often frequent small drinks of hot water were beneficial so I tried it and either that or the climate, or both, served well to high to eliminate my cough as there is but a vestige of it left.

I give this for what it is worth and hope some other sufferers may be benefited. I call my good host Dr. Armstrong and he and his wife deserve some sort of pleasant appreciation for since I have been in the home I have not heard a single cross, unkind or hasty word and that means something for there is little privacy in these abodes. They are built without plaster and the thin board partitions between the rooms enable, or rather compel one, to hear what is said in the adjacent apartment unless he stops his ears and tries not to listen.

I never can cease to praise the climate of this place and it is worthy of it. On the train with me when I arrived was an elderly gentleman who had seen more than thirty years service as a railway mail clerk and he was utterly down and out with asthma, hardly able to drag and wheezing in a pitiful manner.

He secured the best quarters available, tho they are not at all what he would like in some respects, but the best the people could supply. For two or three weeks he didn't seem to gain a particle and he was much discouraged and then he began to pick up by leaps and bounds and at the end of but five weeks one would hardly know him he is so robust and vigorous.

Some years ago a young lady in the last stages of consumption came here and went to a cold hearted doctor, not here now, and asked his advice. He rudely told her she had at best but two or three weeks to live and to make ready for another world. She went away wrathful and determined to show the medical man. She went to my informant who kindly permitted her to have a tent on his premises and take all the fresh air possible, using good food and sane diet. She recovered and lived six or seven years, teaching music and leading an active life and she might have been alive today but because she became reckless, thought sickness was all imagination and so on, went about in bad weather and without wraps and overshoes and naturally took cold and died.

Please understand: I am not trying to boom Tombstone for it is decidedly on the upgrade tho not exactly booming. The mine are opening, the state is building thru it and several miles beyond it some fine hard roads and many are coming in so that houses are absolutely out of the question. My friend who has recovered so from the asthma says he knows of several special friends whom he would like to have come here but he doesn't know where they would find a place to put their heads. They have no facilities here for invalids and the few hotels are full. The proprietor of the leading one, a very good house, by the way, said she wished her place was twice as large as she had to turn many people away almost every day. One day she had to refuse ten.

The town is on one of the transcontinental highways and many travelers who don't camp patronize the hotels tho the majority of autoists have camping equipment with them. If the town only had even a few attractions such as parks and public library a sanatorium here should have hundreds of patients for the glory of the place is its unequalled climate and salubrity in the summer.

Residents here say the summers are not at all oppressive as the days are not severely hot and the nights always cool and pleasant. Tucson is a very desirable place and has plenty of attractions but is intolerably hot three to three and a half months in the year as in Phoenix tho the latter place has been much injured in its health giving qualities by the great Roosevelt dam which tends to make the air somewhat damp. The weather here now is ideal: bright and sunny days, cool nights and fine for sleeping.

The people here make no effort to attract invalids as no one with means seems to care to prepare for strangers of any kind, whether invalids or not. The most I could say to a man who wanted to seek the best place in the United States for those afflicted with asthma or tuberculosis would be to come here, if he had the means, buy an old building and fit it up for a residence. The Congregational church here is a good one and there are some choice people in it and there is an Episcopal church here too tho the rector doesn't live here and preaches only once a Sunday. Some fine people belong to that organization also. The schools here are excellent. There is a good community high school and they are now erecting a splendid new building. The people of Arizona proudly boast that they are profiting by the experience and mistakes of older states and trying to have the best system of education and they are doing it very well. Masonry flourishes here also. There are good blue lodge, chapter, commandery and Eastern Star. The ladies of the various churches have societies and there are several social organizations. There is one thing about Tombstone which will atone for a host of deficiencies and that is the marvelous sunsets they have here at times. I have never seen anything like it in all my travels. The only thing to excel the Alpine glow in Switzerland and that is beyond expression.

At Interlaken there is, several miles from the city, a large gap in the Alpine range and back of that is the lofty Yungfrau, (young wife or woman). The top and sides miles down are a mass of bright snow and ice and when conditions are right the scene simply baffles description. If Tandy himself were alive he would be unable to do it justice.

At first the mighty mountain is a mass of the most brilliant flame imaginable. Up and up go its mighty spears of light and all over the giant mass the vast sea of fire glows with a light indescribable. Finally, as the sun declines, the glow is subdued to the hue of gold, bright and burnished; then, later on, comes a hue of old gold and that gradually changes to silver which remained all night as the moon was full when we were there the last time.

It reminds me of an incident I once heard of a professor of English literature. He had become somewhat skeptical regarding the Christian religion. One day in class the students had under discussion a sublime passage from Milton when one of them said:

"Professor, how does that passage compare with the 23d psalm?" The instructor was silent a short time, strode back and forth across his platform and then remarked: "Young gentlemen: the 23d psalm is incomparable." I related that story once at a prayer meeting when Dr. Post, now the honored ex-pastor of the Congregational church, remarked that he was one of the students at that very recitation. The amazing and wholly peculiar feature of the sunsets here is their extent as well as their great and gorgeous appearance. Frequently the whole horizon, clear to the east will be brilliantly illuminated and it will remain for some time. A few evenings since, as the sun was setting, the western horizon was absolutely clear while on both north and south were vast banks of clouds extending well to the east and these were illuminated in a manner most wonderful. The bright glow upon them absolutely fascinated me and I gazed on it long and admiringly.

I passed two gentlemen and asked them if, as residents here, they really appreciated the wonderful grandeur and beauty of the sunsets they had and they assured me they did.

I am told a man was once passing by an insane hospital when a patient looked thru the grated window and said to the man without:

"Did you ever thank God for your reason?"

"I don't know that I ever did; guess not."

"Neither did I for mine and He took it from me."

I told them ingratitude or lack of appreciation on their part would hardly deprive them of the sunsets but I did hope they appreciated them.

S. W. NICHOLS

TWO MEETINGS AT C. OF C. MONDAY

Commercial Division and C. P. & St. L. Committee Will Hold Session in the Afternoon.

Two meetings are scheduled for Monday morning in the Chamber of Commerce headquarters. At nine o'clock the members of the Commercial Division of the Chamber of Commerce will meet to take up plans for a municipal Christmas tree or Christmas observance of some kind in Jacksonville. This action follows the suggestion made to the Chamber of Commerce some time since that the city have a municipal Christmas tree.

The idea includes a large Christmas tree to be erected in the business district and decorated in bright tinsel, ornaments, and colored lights. The tree would be lighted in the evenings all during the Christmas season. At this meeting a number of trade extension ideas will be considered by the division. Reports will also be heard from the Gift Campaign committee. Pres. Charles Buhner of the Commercial Division will preside.

C. P. & St. L. Meeting
At 10 o'clock there will be a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms of the C. P. & St. L. committee. Attorney J. J. Reeve will be present at the meeting and will confer with the committee as to the best plan of presenting the case for the continuance of the operation of the road, at the hearing set for December 9 in Springfield.

At this time reports will be heard from the Springfield committee as to their plans of procedure. Chairman A. R. Byrre of the Jacksonville committee asks that any one desiring to aid in the movement, be prepared to go to Springfield on December 9, either in his own car or in some one else's, and attend the hearing. A large delegation from Morgan County is the aim of the committee and all who are interested in the matter are urged to attend. The continuance of the road is of vital importance to the people of this and of other communities and a large delegation in attendance at the hearing before the Interstate Commerce commission will be the strongest possible argument against the discontinuance of the C. P. and St. L.

Market Report

By The Associated Press

MORE INCREASES OF MARKET PRICES

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Resumption of short covering and pool operations combined with fresh buying of a few individual stock for special reasons, brought about a further increase in today's brief session of the stock market. Some profit-taking was in evidence on the part of recent buyers particularly in the coppers and rails but most of the offerings were absorbed without difficulty New York Central, Cerro de Pasco, Kennicott, Crucible and Associated Drygoods being the most prominent shares unable to hold their previous gains. The declines were moderate.

Some high priced industrial shares were bid up in rather spirited fashion on reports of possible surplus distribution. Nearly eight p.o.s. were recorded by Elkhorn Coal preferred; Loose-Wiles Biscuit, National Cloak and Suit, Studebaker and Union Tank Car.

International Harvester continued under pressure as a result of the directors' intention to discontinue the stock dividends, dropping 7 1/2 points. Woolworth dropped 4 1/2 points on a small turnover.

Only fractional gains were registered by such representative shares as Baldwin, United States Steel, common, Bethlehem "B" and Chile copper.

American Woolen, American Hide and Leather, preferred, International Paper, Mexican Petroleum, Pan-American and Standard Oils of California and New Jersey moved up 1 to 2 1/2 points.

Except for a few substantial gains in such ordinarily inactive stocks as Louisville & Nashville, "Nickel Plate," Rock Island 7 per cent preferred and Lake Erie and Western preferred, the changes in rail shares were generally up. Demand sterling touched $452 1/2, its highest price in three years in response to a brisk demand here, presumably to meet payments on imports. French and Belgian currencies showed little change and other European rates were irregular.

The clearing house statement showed a deficit in reserve for the third consecutive week, the total being $7,472,190 or $1,904,180 below the week before.

Except for a slight loss in the Third 4 1/2s all of the U. S. Government securities moved to higher ground, the gains ranging from 2 to 12 cents in $100.

Cash corn was weak, with the market 1/2 to 2c easier the loss being mainly on off grade basis. Sales were 390,000 bushels. The seaboard reported 200,000 bushels corn worked for export.

Oats closed 1/2c easier with premiums unchanged. Sales were 115,000 bushels. Sales of 30,000 by oats were sold to go to store. Country offerings to arrive were small.

PRICE OF GRAINS AVERAGED LOWER

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Lack of speculation rather than any aggressive selling had a depressing effect on the wheat market today and all grains averaged lower after higher prices at the start. At the finish wheat was down 1/2 to 1c, with May $1.16 to $1.16 1/2, and July $1.07 1/2 to $1.07 1/2. Corn was off 1/2 to 1c; oats declined 1/2 to 1c, and provisions were 7 to 17c lower.

Wheat prices showed considerable strength at the opening but weakness developed quickly. Liverpool quotations were higher despite an easier close on this side of the Atlantic yesterday and this combined with further unfavorable private cables from Argentina caused some buying at the start which tended to lift values.

Commission houses sold a little wheat at the top for account of western long and when some traders noted the poor buying power they sold wheat and forced a break. Trade as a whole was of the usual week-end evening up character. A rally was looked for toward the close by some traders, but it failed to materialize. Trade in corn and oats was uninteresting, the markets showing a rather heavy under-tone with more or less local pressure on the deferred deliveries. Cash houses sold December corn in small lots persistently and the December-May difference narrowed.

Country offerings of corn showed an increase. Shipping demand for corn was fair with sample values unchanged as compared with the December.

Provisions were easier in line with hogs and grains and on an easing in the price of cash lard.

FRECKLES KNEW HE WAS BAD

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAYS.

The Dramatic club of Illinois Woman's college under the direction of Miss Ida B. Davis, made its first appearance of the year Thanksgiving evening. The three one act plays which were given maintained the high standard and evidenced the enthusiasm which is characteristic of the work at I. W. C.

The first play, Lady Gregory's "Rising of the Moon" was very serious and appealing. As difficult and subtle as is the characterization, the principal characters, Josephine Rink, as the ragged man, and Lucille Vick as the sergeant, proved adequate to the demands. They were ably supported by Winifred Porter and Harriet Munson as sergeants.

Following this more serious play was the rollicking farce, "Mechanical Jane." The two spinsters, played by Ethel Morris and Alma Blodgett, were both amusing and pathetic. Their prying ideas as primly expressed kept the audience in an uproar of laughter, while their servant, "Mechanical Jane" added to the fun by her vigorous and thorough house keeping methods. This very different part was acted by Donahel Keys.

The last of the plays, "The Floral Show," was very enjoyable. In this, rare fun was mingled with an atmosphere of understanding sympathy. The cast was a happy choice. Martha Logan as Henry, the thrifty man; Charlotte Rodgers as Miss Willis, who had been engaged for fifteen years to the conservative gentleman, Mr. Jackson, played by Margaret Kessler; Margaret Fowler as the Jewish proprietor, Mr. Slavsky; and the dominating figure of the play—the clerk, Maud, played by Katherine Yanseck.

In the spring, the Dramatic club will present a bigger production under the supervision of Miss Davis.
